THE AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE SOCIETY.
NOTICE is hereby given that the Annual General MEETING of the Shareholders will be held in the Old Temperance Hall, Pitt-street, Sydney, on THURSDAY, 22nd June instant, at noon, to receive the Report of the Directors for the year ended 31st March last; to elect a Director in the room of MANUEL FRANCIS JOSEPHSON, Esq., who retires by rotation but is eligible for re-election; to elect an Auditor for the ensuing year; and to transact such other business as may be brought before the meeting in terms of the Deed of Settlement.
By order of the Board.
JAMES HENDERSON, Manager.
235, Pitt-street, Sydney, 3rd June, 1876.
In pursuance of the 36th Clause of the Deed of Settlement every candidate for the office of Director is required to give notice thereof to the Manager in writing, to be left at the Society's Offices, in Sydney, fourteen clear days at the least prior to the day of election.

TO THE SHAREHOLDERS OF THE AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE SOCIETY.
LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—I hereby notify that I am again a Candidate for re-election for the vacant seat in your directory.
I am,
Ladies and Gentlemen,
Yours respectfully,
M. F. JOSEPHSON.

NEWTOWN.
THE EDUCATION QUESTION.
THE BIBLE COMBINATION NATIONAL—NON-SECTARIAN.
A PUBLIC MEETING
of persons favourable to securing the HOLY BIBLE
in the State Schools of this colony will be held in the TOWN HALL, NEWTOWN, TO-MORROW (Tuesday), the 6th instant, at 7.30 p.m.
The chair will be taken by P. C. L. SHEPHERD, Esq., M.P., and the meeting will be addressed by several leading ministers and laymen from the city and suburbs.

MANIFESTO OF THE COMBINATION.
"Whereas a large and steadily increasing majority of the children receiving education are in attendance at the Public schools,—and whereas the Scripture lessons in the school books are not regularly read and are insufficient,—and whereas it is impracticable for clergymen in most cases to attend the Public schools to impart religious instruction,—and whereas it is indispensable to the welfare of the rising generation, and the progress, safety, honour, and prosperity of the colony that the young should be moulded morally and educated by the Word of God,—and whereas a large number of them will certainly not receive any such training unless given in the State schools,—
"It is deemed imperatively necessary for the FRIENDS OF THE BIBLE and the well-wishers of the colony to COMBINE to secure the introduction of the WHOLE Bible into our State schools, with the view of moral but wholly UNSECTARIAN Christian training from the daily reading of this sacred Book, during the first half-hour of the day, while compelling no children to take part in such exercises whose parents or guardians may object; and, further, that, as a part of this training, the school be opened and closed with a suitable form of prayer."
THOMAS B. TRESS, DANIEL ALLEN, E. W. MOLESWORTH, DONALD CORMACK, } Hon. Secretaries.

THE BIBLE COMBINATION PRAYER UNION.
I. The object of this Union is to obtain by united prayer answers to the following petitions:—
1. That the minds of our fellow colonists may be thoroughly aroused to the vital importance of the work of the Bible Combination.
2. That God will send all the means necessary for the success of that work.
3. That God will so prosper the work, that the time may soon come when the Bible shall be placed by law in every State school in the colony.
II. The basis of this Union is the promise of the Lord Jesus.—"Again I say unto you, that if two of you shall agree on earth as touching anything that they shall ask, it shall be done for them of my Father which is in heaven." Matt. xviii. 19.
III. Members agree to make these requests a matter of daily prayer.
Persons willing to join this Prayer Union are requested to communicate their names and addresses to the Honorary Secretary, the Rev. R. TAYLOR, St. Stephen's, Newtown.

ST. JOSEPH'S INVESTMENT AND BUILDING SOCIETY.
Offices: 99, Elizabeth-street.
TRUSTEES:
Rev. M. J. Dwyer, James Mullins, Esq., J.P., and P. R. Larkin, Esq.
MANAGER:
Mr. E. J. Rubie.
Shareholders are reminded that the MONTHLY SUBSCRIPTION MEETING will be held at the Society's Offices, 99, Elizabeth-street, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, June 7, 1876, between the hours of 7 and 8.30 o'clock.

TO BORROWERS.
No Entrance Fees! No Premiums!
No Survey Fees.
Borrowers may obtain an advance without becoming members, and receive at once the amount of their loans, without any deductions.
The mode of repayment is as under, for £100, but the loan can be redeemed at any time, or can be changed from one scale to another:—

Years.	Per Calendar Month.	Per Year.	Total Repaid.
3 ..	£3 6 0	£39 12 0	£118 16 0
5 ..	2 3 9	26 5 0	131 5 0
7 ..	1 14 3	20 11 0	143 17 0
10 ..	1 7 0	16 4 0	162 0 0
12 ..	1 4 3	14 11 0	170 12 0
15 ..	1 1 6	12 18 0	193 10 0

A person borrowing £200 at 8 per cent. per annum would in ten years pay £360, whereas he would only pay this society £324, showing a gain of £36.
One of the many SPECIAL ADVANTAGES of this society is that it is now in existence since 1868, and having done an increasing and prosperous business, it is not now liable to the same risks as new societies. Ample funds are at the disposal of borrowers.
The amount already lent on mortgage is upwards of £150,000. The securities are undeniable being houses and land in the city of Sydney and suburbs, which have a daily increasing value, and which cannot fail to commend the society as offering a safe and profitable medium for savings. Last year's dividend was 8 per cent., with a bonus of 2 per cent. to investors and borrowers. Shares can be withdrawn at any time. Every information can be obtained from the Manager, Mr. E. J. RUBIE, at the Society's Offices.

R. B. BUTCHER, Secretary.

RELIGIOUS ANNOUNCEMENTS.

SERMONS FOR THE PEOPLE.—The Rev. JAMES GREENWOOD, M.A., before retiring from the Christian ministry at the end of July, wishes to take a last opportunity of specially impressing the leading Christian truths and duties on the minds of his fellow-citizens. With that view a series of SERMONS will be given (D.V.) in Bathurst-street Baptist Church, on successive SUNDAY EVENINGS, from June 4th to July 30th. The Sermons will also be published weekly, by Messrs. JAMES READING and CO., 346, George-street, Sydney, and may be had of all booksellers.

THE REV. PETER CAMPBELL'S AUSTRALIAN VOLUNTARY TOWN AND COUNTRY GOSPEL-PREACHING LECTURING, AND PHILANTHROPIC MISSION.
"Every man's work shall be made manifest."—1 Cor. iii., 13.

ANNUAL REPORT.
The Missionary desires reverently and sincerely to record his gratitude to Almighty God for his great and manifold goodness, blessing, countenance, and aid to this Mission, as well as for the highly satisfactory, most gratifying, and cheering results achieved in connection therewith since the publication of the last Annual Report.

SPECIAL AND SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL SERVICES were some time ago held in Sydney, Newtown, Woollahra, and North Shore.

PROTRACTED BUSH TOURS
in the Twofold Bay, Monaro, and Kiandra districts (occupying very many months in duration, and during which nearly 2000 miles were travelled) have been successfully accomplished.

CHRIST'S GLORIOUS GOSPEL
faithfully and lovingly preached in the parlours of the rich, and in the huts and homes of the poor, in the pastoral districts; and the gold-miners of Kiandra have been specially addressed. The Chinese in Kiandra have had the Bible (in their own language) presented to them. The inmates of many up-country gaols and hospitals have been urged to "Come to the Saviour."

TEMPERANCE AND PHILANTHROPIC LECTURES
have been delivered, and large numbers of religious tracts and hymn-books distributed gratuitously. Homœopathic medicines and advice have, as usual, been gratuitously dispensed.

A CHRISTIAN (NON-SECTARIAN) MISSION CHURCH
in Kiandra (capable of seating about fifty persons) has been erected, consecrated, and preached in by the Missionary. It is insured in the names of trustees, two of whom are magistrates of N.S.W.; its pulpit will be opened to any Christian (Protestant) preacher, and the building will be available, at some future time, for a Sabbath school. It is a neat and pretty church with porch, spire and comfortable movable seats. All who have seen it say it is the best building of any kind in Kiandra. IT IS ENTIRELY FREE FROM DEBT. Many of the friends of this Mission have advised the Missionary to relinquish the idea (IN THE MEANTIME) of building the other two proposed Bush Churches. The Catholic element is a strong one in the Cooma district, BUT A MORE FAVOURABLE OPPORTUNITY FOR BUILDING THESE CHURCHES WILL DOUBTLESS OCCUR AT SOME FUTURE TIME.

MISSIONARY TRIP TO TASMANIA.
The Missionary, in obedience to Christ's command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature," left Sydney, per s.s. Tasmania, on 8th April last, for Hobart Town, and returned to Sydney on 3rd instant. During his eight weeks' absence from New South Wales he distributed gratuitously 1200 hymn books amongst, and addressed upwards of, 3000 Tasmanians in all, on the subjects of religion, temperance, morality, and philanthropy. His religious services in the Town Hall and Theatre Royal in Hobart Town, and his various services in the suburban and country districts, were productive of much good, and accompanied by "showers of blessing" from his Master. The Rev. Robert M'Lean, M.A., took part occasionally in some of these services.

GENERAL ABSTRACT.
Within the last five years and five months 12,000 miles (1000 on foot) travelled by the Missionary in South Australia and New South Wales, &c., (including overland trip of 1000 miles from Adelaide to Sydney, and 1198 miles connected with Tasmanian missionary trip); and also 26,000 miles per sea to and from Great Britain; 1000 Gospel sermons preached, and many Bibles and Testaments, 27,000 religious and temperance tracts, and 6700 "Moody and Sankey's" Collection of Hymns (Campbell's various Sydney Editions, with original prefaces) distributed gratuitously in town and country. About 300 copies only of the hymn books sold by booksellers for this mission; 270 lectures on "Intemperance," and other subjects delivered, and 45 signatures to the Total Abstinence Pledge thereby obtained. Up-country gaols and hospitals (many of which have neither resident nor visiting clerical instructors) have been duly preached in, WITH THE MOST GRATIFYING RESULTS—daily prayer meetings (fifteen in number) introduced into Sydney; special services for the poor held—charitable, philanthropic, and benevolent missions and institutions have been aided by addresses, letters in newspapers, and donations in cash and goods—numerous pressing and well-authenticated cases of distress have been promptly relieved—24 different kinds of homœopathic medicines (in cases) have (during last two years) been carried, and, along with advice, dispensed gratuitously to all classes (irrespective of creeds) in the far interior of New South Wales.

☞ NO SALARY FOR HIMSELF DRAWN BY MISSIONARY for five years and five months!
Personal, travelling, and mission expenses only deducted and paid out of the Mission Funds.
MISSIONARY CONNECTED WITH NO PARTICULAR SECT, and supported and sent by no society.
CONNECTED WITH NO OTHER MISSIONARIES, or so-called "Bush Evangelists," &c.

HOCKIN'S IMPROVED PATENT SEIDLITZ POWDER, for immediately producing Seidlitz Water without the slightest trouble.
It differs from the Seidlitz Powders usually sold in having all the ingredients in one bottle, is quite TASTELESS, and may be taken by PERSONS OF ALL AGES as a COOLING BEVERAGE, MILD APERIENT, or BRISK PURGATIVE, according to dose. Its extensive use during nearly half a century proves its superiority over all other Purgative Salines, and the fact that the Powder retains its properties for any number of years if the bottle is kept corked, renders it an indispensable necessity to every family, traveller, or emigrant.
Manufactured by HOCKIN, WILSON, and CO, 38, Duke-street, Manchester-square, London.

Patronised by his Excellency the Governor and Lady Robinson.
PRICE, ONE SHILLING.
The following extracts have been selected from letters received to this date, and the manufacturer respectfully solicits the patronage of the general public of the Australian colonies:—
From his Excellency the Governor and Lady Robinson.
"I am directed by his Excellency the Governor and Lady Robinson to return you many thanks for your kind present of six bottles of the Australian Relish, and I am further directed to say that they consider it most excellent. They intend to use it regularly at Government House, and to recommend it to others."
From T. S. Mort, Esq.
"I like your Australian Relish much, for whilst it is a gentle spur to the appetite, it does not appear to have anything in it likely to do harm to the stomach."
From a well-known Clergyman in Sydney.
"I think I am acquainted with all sauces, but your Australian Relish is, in my judgment, the very best yet produced, and is quite distinctive in character."

GENERAL SUMMARY.

Considerable concern was created by the statement in the Birmingham Daily Post that New Zealand was suffering from the calamity of a six months' drought. This was reported on the authority of Birmingham firms, but an official contradiction has been given to it.

The memorial presented to the Queen by the Royal Colonial Institute, praying for a distinct recognition of the colonies in the new title, does not meet with the general concurrence of colonists now in England.

A deputation waited upon the Colonial Secretary, on the subject of marriage with a deceased wife's sister in Australia, urging the injustice to which such persons were subject on coming to England. Though legal in the colonies, such marriages are held as illegal here, and Earl Carnarvon's reply was the reverse of encouraging. The question, he said in substance, is legal, not political, and must be decided, not at Whitehall, but at Westminster.

Mr. Whalley and Dr. Kenealy have come to an open rupture. The latter has been publicly denounced as a traitor to the Tichborne Claimant.

On the 13th April, at The Bells Hotel, Putney, arrangements were completed in the presence of a large number of sporting men for a championship race, on the Thames, between Sadler, of London, and Edward Trickett, of Australia; the stakes are for £200 aside. The time fixed for the race is June 26. Trickett has ordered a boat from Winship, of Newcastle.

On the 6th April the Lords read the Irish Judicature Bill a second time. All the important clauses of the Oxford University Bill were passed. The Right Hon. Lord Cairns, in reply to Earl Granville, said Government had decided not to amend the Royal Titles Bill so as to exclude the word Empress from documents bearing the sign manual.

In the House of Commons several amendments against the increased income tax were defeated, and the budget and resolutions passed.

On the 7th. there were long discussions on petitions presented against the Monastic Institutions Bill, on defects in the Public Schools Act, and on the construction of the central arsenal.

On the 10th, the proposed vote of censure on the Admiralty for the course pursued in regard to the Mistletoe accident was negatived.

Mr. Fawcett's motion against her Majesty's assumption of title of Empress was postponed till after Easter.

On the 11th, after the debate on the Suez Canal arrangement, the House of Commons adjourned till 24th instant.

Influential meetings have been held in London and the principal provincial towns to protest against the new Imperial title.

The Queen, with Princess Beatrice, arrived at Baden Baden on the 20th April, and at Coburg she resides for a month, receiving visits, and among others from the German Emperor. The absence of the Sovereign during the sitting of Parliament has provoked sharp censures from a portion of the Press, and some worrying questions in Parliament, as such a step is declared to be absolutely without precedent, and Mr. Disraeli is severely blamed for acceding to Royal whim.

Lords Derby and Carnarvon have successively attended her Majesty.

Something like alarm was produced when it was discovered that nearly all the members of the Royal family were absent from England; the Queen in Germany: the Prince of Wales in Egypt, the Duke of Edinburgh in Russia, the Duke of Connaught at Gibraltar, and Prince Leopold at Nice. There was only young Prince Albert Victor among us to represent the Royal line. The Royal Titles Bill had made the public mind unusually sensitive and sore, and it was feared that the new title would be proclaimed from the Court while abroad; but popular sentiment has stopped that scandal. The Premier declares that the Queen's continental visit has been undertaken for strictly domestic reasons—the institution of a memorial to a half-sister who died four years ago.

The Queen left Baden on the 10th April, and arrived the same evening at Coburg, amidst enthusiastic demonstrations of welcome. Her daughter, with some of her children, came from Berlin on the 12th; the Crown Prince on the 15th, and the Emperor of Germany on the 18th.

The Queen has presented Mr. Disraeli with her portrait, painted in oil by a German artist.

The Prince of Wales reached Suez on the morning of March 25, and was received at Cairo in the evening by the Khedive, the Crown Prince and several high functionaries; the Russian Grand Duke Alexis was also present. The Ghezzireh Palace was assigned to the Prince during his week's stay; he left Cairo for Alexandria on the 1st April, and proceeded immediately on board the Serapis, where he gave a banquet of forty covers. On Monday, the 3rd of April, he sailed for Malta, arriving there on the 6th; he was entertained there until the 11th, when he departed for Gibraltar, which he reached on the 15th. A week has been spent on the rock in levees, picnics, illuminations, balls, races, and athletic sports. Lisbon is the next resting-place, where preparations are being made for a splendid reception, and a pressing invitation has been received from Madrid.

The Duke of Edinburgh left St. Petersburgh on the 26th of March, and reached Berlin on the 28th, where he spent several hours with the Crown Prince and Princess. He waited on Marshal MacMahon in Paris, and arrived in London on the 3rd April, before departing on his two years' cruise. The Duke will open the new Seamen and Marine Orphan Schoolhouse at Portsmouth, the foundation stone of which was laid by him and the Duchess.

An address has been sent from the insurgents to the Great Powers, expressing their readiness to submit to the obedience of the Porte if Count Andrassy's scheme of reforms is locally executed with the guarantees which the insurgents demand. The Porte, in an interview with Sir George Elliott and General Ignaheff, the British and Russian ambassadors, declared that Turkey has no intention to declare war against Montenegro.

LONDON, APRIL 25.

On Mr. Disraeli declining in the House of Commons last night to afford Mr. Fawcett facilities for discussing his motion on the Royal Titles Bill, Mr. Fawcett announced a resolution censuring the advice given by the Premier to her Majesty the Queen to assume the title of Empress of India.

In the House of Commons, this evening, Mr. Disraeli again refused to afford Mr. Fawcett the facilities he seeks, and the latter leaves his resolution on the notice paper.

CONSTANTINOPLE, APRIL 25.

The Foreign Ministers of all the great Powers have advised the Porte to abstain from taking action against Montenegro, and have promised to unite in their efforts to pacify that province. The Porte has accepted their promises, but in the meanwhile military preparations will continue.

ST. PETERSBURGH, APRIL 25.

The official Gazette, in confirming the news from Constantinople relative to the advice of the foreign Ministers to the Turkish Government, declared that the great Powers are firmly unanimous in adopting a pacifying tone in regard to the Eastern question.

BERLIN, APRIL 26.

At to-day's sitting of the Reichstag, Prince Bismarck denied that Herr Delbouck's resignation was owing to his dissension from the scheme for transferring the German railways to the Empire, but to ill-health.

LONDON, APRIL 27.

In answer to a question of Sir George Balfour, in the House of Commons last night, Lord George Hamilton said that Lord Northbrook's dispatch of November to the Secretary of State for India concerning the India Tariff Act, had just been received. The Marquis of Salisbury's rejoinder was under consideration, and as soon as it was made, papers would be laid before the House.

In the House of Commons this evening Mr. Disraeli refused to delay advising her Majesty to proclaim the title of Empress of India, and the adjournment of the House was then moved, and a stormy debate ensued, in which Mr. Fawcett took the lead. Party recriminations were freely indulged in. The Marquis of Hartington declined to assist Mr. Fawcett's motion in consequence of the uselessness of doing so.

Her Majesty the Queen has given her assent to the Royal Titles Bill.

Her Majesty has conferred a Baronetcy on Sir Bartle Frere.

The total amount tendered for the new Indian loan of £4,000,000 was £8,600,000 at 102.

LONDON, APRIL 28.

The proclamation declaring the Queen to be Empress of India was issued to-day; after recital, the proclamation declares that so far as may be convenient on all occasions and in all instruments wherein the style and titles of her Majesty are used, excepting charters, commissions, letters patent, grants, writs of appointment, and similar instruments, not operating beyond the United Kingdom, the following addition to the style and titles pertaining to the Imperial Crown of the United Kingdom and its dependencies shall henceforth be made—in the Latin tongue "Indiæ Imperatrix," in English "Empress of India." The proclamation further states that all coinage shall continue to be lawfully issued without the additional title until the Queen's pleasure is further declared.

In the House of Commons this evening Mr. Eustace Smith moved for the appointment of a select committee to report upon the mode followed in relieving the sufferers by the last Indian famine. The Government opposed the motion, which was rejected by 149 votes against 46. The motion was seconded by Sir George Campbell, who availed himself of the motion to draw attention to the estimate that he made as to the future of the rice crops in Bengal. Sir George said that the amount of relief was overdone, but that it was forced upon Lord Northbrook by the home Government. Lord G. Hamilton recalled the pressure of public opinion, adding that the only object of Mr. Smith's motion was a vote of censure against the Government.

Governor Hennessy telegraphs from Barbadoes that the negroes have been quieted without the troops firing a shot.

LONDON, MAY 1.

The Rev. Dr. Mylne was consecrated to-day as Bishop of Bombay, the ceremony being performed at St. Paul's Cathedral, by his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury.

In reviewing the proclamation proclaiming the Queen to be "Empress of India," the liberal papers severely criticised the absence of words limiting her Majesty's title of Empress to India only, as was promised by Mr. Disraeli.

VIENNA, MAY 1.

The Turks have succeeded in relieving Niksich. The insurgents in this engagement have been defeated.

LONDON, MAY 2.

In the House of Commons, this evening, in replying to a question of Mr. James, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said that the proclamation covered pledges made by her Majesty's Government.

Mr. Disraeli, in answer to Sir Charles Dilke, said that the employment of the Imperial title would be necessary for commissions to officers in the army, on account of the employment of troops in India; otherwise the proclamation completely covers all the exceptions enumerated in Sir W. Harcourt's question of the 3rd April.

In the House of Lords the Chancellor refuted Lord Selborne's charge that the proclamation in any way violated the solemn pledges to localise the title.

The Queen has conferred the Grand Cross of the order of St. Michael and St. George on his Highness the Maharajah of Johore.

THE EAST.

CEYLON, MAY 16.

The proclamation of the Queen's assumption of the title of the Empress of India has been received with the same acquiescence all over the East that distinguished the reception of the news of Mr. Disraeli's proposal. The intelligent people and the Press generally prefer the title of Empress to Queen, and Anglo-Indians, as well as natives, cannot understand the fuss made over the matter in England; for many years medals have been struck, memorials forwarded, and books written in India all with the title of Empress, every one being in ignorance of the title not being assumed in 1858.

Lord Lytton, the new Viceroy, has made a very favourable impression so far; his opening speech gave general satisfaction.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

SATURDAY.

BEFORE Mr. District Court Judge WILKINSON.

Mr. W. J. Foster prosecuted for the Crown.

SENTENCES.

George Steward Hanslip, convicted on the previous day of receiving a watch, knowing it to have been stolen. Prisoner addressed the jury for about half-an-hour, in which he described the whole of his criminal career, and his connection with the Bargo Brush affair, and was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment in Darlinghurst gaol.

O'Neill, Wilmott, Brown, and two Cassidys, who had been found guilty of stealing copper and brass from the steamship Adelaide, were brought before the Court. Mr. Roberts addressed the Court on behalf of O'Neill, and called evidence as to his character. Mr. J. L. Brown adduced evidence on behalf of Wilmott and the two Cassidys. The parents of Brown had evidence given on his behalf. Sentence deferred.

ATTEMPT TO STAB.

George Edwards was charged with having, on the 23rd of May last, attempted to stab one William Henry Wildman. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. On the day in question prisoner, who was greatly under the influence of drink, was going along George-street South and Parramatta-street brandishing a knife, and threatening and abusing people whom he met. Prosecutor was walking along Parramatta-street, near to the bridge, when he was accosted by the prisoner, who threatened to stab him, and made a lunge at him, but he avoided the blow by stepping aside. Prisoner was found guilty, but recommended to mercy. Remanded for sentence.

ASSAULT OCCASIONING ACTUAL BODILY HARM.

William John Madden, Cornelius Kelly, and Mary Kelly were charged with having, on the 15th of January last, assaulted one John Navin, so as to occasion actual bodily harm. Prisoners were defended by Mr. Walter H. Cooper, instructed by Mr. Joseph Lowe.

John Navin, a dairyman at Redfern, said that he was driving his milkcart up Kensington-street, when he passed close to a child; he was stopped by Kelly, who said that he had run over or killed his child; he said that if anything was wrong to send for a doctor and he would pay; Mrs. Kelly came up and abused him, as also did her husband; he got out of his cart and they had some words, and after having been struck by Kelly and his wife, he again got into his cart, and got into Botany Road, to which he was followed by a crowd—Mrs. Kelly calling out that he had killed her child; on the Botany Road he was mobbed, knocked down, and kicked; the people were fighting with him, and he fought them as well as he was able; he was followed into Arnold-street where he was again followed and mobbed; he went on still further to Cleveland-street, and was again crowded and assaulted; he was so beaten about the head that he suffered from erysipelas, while he was much bruised about the body, and received a cut on the thigh; Kelly and his wife were present all this time with the mob, but he could not particularize the persons who had beaten him; he could not say that he observed Madden present; with the assistance of some people who gathered round, he was able to get into his cart; he gave the horse a cut or two to get it to go ahead fast that he might get out of the way, but, owing to some one having taken the bit out of the horse's mouth, it ran away, and he was thrown out of the cart, and had his leg broken; for this, together with the erysipelas, he was treated in the Infirmary. By Mr. Cooper: He had been having something to drink; he might have knocked the child down, but he did not run over it.

Corroborative evidence was given by a lad aged 16 years, who said that he saw Mrs. Kelly seize prosecutor at the door of Williamson's public-house, bite him on the arm, and strike him several times. Madden also struck prosecutor. There was evidence given for the defence, to show that Kelly's child had been knocked down by prosecutor, who was driving furiously and carelessly, and that when spoken to about the matter, he became quarrelsome and struck those who gathered round about him. The jury found the three prisoners guilty of a common assault, but were of opinion that there had been great provocation. Mr. Cooper, later in the day, when the prisoners were brought up for sentence, produced excellent certificates of character with regard to the Kellys and Madden. Mrs. Kelly was sentenced to be imprisoned till the rising of the Court; her husband received a sentence of ten days' imprisonment; while Madden, who is about 16 years of age, was sentenced to five days' imprisonment.

STEALING FROM THE PERSON.

Peter Campbell was charged with having, on the 14th of April, stolen a purse and 2s. 6d. from the person of John Connell. Prisoner pleaded not guilty and was undefended. Prosecutor, who was somewhat under the influence of drink, was assaulted by prisoner near the corner of Market and Clarence streets, who knocked him down and took from him a purse and 2s. 6d. in silver pieces. This was about daybreak in the morning; and as constable Axam was coming up prisoner threw away the purse and the silver was scattered, and only 1s. 6d. was discovered by the constable, who took him into custody. The jury retired, and, after having been absent for a time, returned into Court, and stated that one of their number was evidently under the influence of drunkenness, and was then lying down on a form in the jury-room. They were told to retire for a little time; and on their return Dr. Brady gave evidence as to the condition of the juror (named Thomas Cavill), who was under the influence of drink, and who was evidently too confused to consider or reflect on the evidence which had been given. A juror also gave evidence as to the state of the juror, who was sentenced by his Honor to forty-eight hours' imprisonment in Darlinghurst gaol, for contempt of Court. The rest of the jury were discharged; and the case will be commenced de novo on Monday.

UNLAWFULLY WOUNDING.

James Martin was charged with having, on the 28th April, at Salt-pan Creek, unlawfully and maliciously wounded one Christopher Paget. Prisoner pleaded not guilty, and was undefended. The prosecutor had engaged the prisoner to prepare charcoal for him, and shortly before the assault took place he asked him where the charcoal was that he had made, and he said that he had sold it to another man. Prosecutor said if he had done so, he would ask him to return the bags and tools that he had lent him, and pay him what he owed him. While prosecutor was stooping to pick up one of the bags, prisoner struck at him with a spade, and, cutting through the shirt, inflicted a wound on his left breast. Prisoner was arrested by constable David Walker, stationed at Canterbury. The prosecutor's wound was dressed at the Sydney Infirmary by Dr. Brady. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, but recommended prisoner to mercy, as they believed he had had provocation.

The Court was adjourned till 10 o'clock on Monday morning.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY.

BEFORE Messrs. Smart, Pinhey, Cunninghame, and Crane.

Nineteen persons were fined for drunkenness.

Bessy Donnell and Henry Gainer, charged with having made use of obscene language, were each sentenced to pay a penalty of 10s., or to be imprisoned four days; Thomas Saunders, Margaret Whims, and Mary Johnson, on like charges, were severally sentenced to pay 20s., or to be imprisoned seven days

William Williams and James Gardiner were brought before the court by constable Butler, who deposed that about 4 o'clock this morning he received information, acting on which he proceeded to York street, where he found the prisoners, and took them into custody, and charged them, being suspected persons, with frequenting that place with intent to commit a felony; produced a tomahawk which was given to him by Richard Watson; knows both prisoners as companions of thieves and prostitutes, and have been themselves convicted of various offences. John Clarke, of York-street, deposed that a little after 3 o'clock he was awoke by a noise, like some one breaking through a wall, and looking out of window, saw three men walk up a gateway near Watson's shop; could not recognize the prisoners as two of the three men he saw; some little time afterwards heard a female scream, and again looked out of window, when he saw the police coming. Richard Watson, of York-street, deposed that this morning he missed a portion of a roll of lead which had been left in front of his shop, and afterwards found it in a gateway near Russell's, a piece having been cut off with some blunt instrument; this morning his boy found, near his house, the tomahawk produced by the constable. Detective Larkins corroborated constable Butler's evidence as to the character of the prisoners. They offered no defence, and were sentenced to be imprisoned six months.

Edward Long was charged with having committed an assault of an aggravated nature on Margaret Long, his wife. She stated that yesterday afternoon the defendant, her husband, threw her hat into the fire, and when she took it out he beat her—using a piece of iron and a boot—about the head and face, and when she was down he kicked her; she bled very much, and produced some garments which were covered with blood. The Bench sentenced the defendant to be imprisoned six months, and expressed their regret that they had not the power to order a flogging.

General Post Office, Sydney, 3rd June, 1876.

The barque King Oscar left Newcastle on Friday last, bound to Melbourne, with a cargo of coal, and experienced strong southerly winds as far as Botany Heads, when the vessel was found to be making a great deal of water; Captain Harless at once tried the pumps, and ascertained that one was entirely broken and the gear of the other disarranged to such an extent that both were useless. He therefore decided to run back to Sydney for repairs, which will probably be completed by this afternoon, when the vessel will resume her voyage.

The Ballina (s.) crossed the Macleay River bar at 4.30 p.m. on the 2nd instant, and arrived in Sydney at 7.30 p.m. on the 3rd, having had fine weather with light westerly winds throughout the passage. Her cargo comprises—1460 bags maize, 60 hides, 27 pigs, 12 coops fowls, 12 cases eggs, 1 horse, and sundries.

The iron ship Jason left the Downs 25th February and discharged her pilot off Plymouth on the 29th. Had strong W. and W.S.W. winds to latitude 46·30 N. and longitude 7·30 W. on 5th March. The N.E. trades proved good, and the Equator was crossed on the 24th March in longitude 24·15 W.; had moderate S.E. trades and passed the meridian of the Cape of Good Hope on 24th April, in latitude 39·51 S. Her easting was run down on a mean parallel of 44 S., with fine winds throughout; passed the S.W. cape of Tasmania on 27th May, and from thence moderate weather, principally from the northward. On the 1st June, a seaman, named Stephen Rugles, died of consumption.

The cargo of the John Penn (s.) comprises 400 cheeses, 50 bars cattle food, 300 boxes maizena, 20 hides, 50 kegs butter, 2 horses, 1 buggy, and sundries. She left Merimbula at 10.30 a.m. on the 2nd instant, and had light variable winds and fine weather throughout the passage, arriving in Sydney at 1.45 p.m. on the 3rd.

The Civility (s.) crossed the Clarence bar at 3.30 p.m. on Thursday, the 1st June, and arrived at Sydney at 1 p.m. on Saturday, the 3rd, having experienced S.W. and S. breezes and cross head sea during the passage. Her cargo comprises 928 bags maize, 10 bags oats, 69 hides, 4 cases eggs, 2 coops fowls, 2 casks tallow, 2 bales sheepskins, 1 bale tobacco, 1 crate and 220 bunches bananas, 175 casks rum, and sundries.

The Minora, from Adelaide, reports having had very heavy weather off Cape Howe.

The Blackbird (s.) left Cooktown at 1 p.m. on May 26th; arrived in Townsville at [illegible] a.m. on the 28th; left again at 10 a.m. same day; passed through Whitsunday Passage at 5 a.m. on the 29th; rounded Sandy Cape at 4 a.m. on the 31st; made Cape Moreton same day at 10 p.m.; arrived in Brisbane at 5 a.m. June 1st; left again same day at 4 p.m.; cleared Cape Moreton at 9 p.m.; passed Smoky Cape at 1 a.m. on the 3rd, and arrived alongside the Grafton Wharf at 1 a.m. on the 4th. Experienced strong head winds to Cape Moreton, from thence light variable winds.

The French barque Alme left Bourbon on the 11th April, and had moderate weather until reaching the Howe, when she experienced a heavy northerly gale, which continued for six days without intermission.

The James Paterson (s.) left Maryborough on June 1st at 1 p.m., crossed Wide Bay bar on Friday at 8 a.m., passed Cape Morton at 5.30 p.m. same day, passed Smoky Cape on the 4th at 10.50 a.m., and arrived in Sydney same night at 10 p.m. She experienced moderate south and south-west winds, and fine clear weather throughout the passage.

The schooner Waterwitch left Adelaide on 6th May, bound for the Clarence River, and arrived off the Heads on the 23rd, but there was such a heavy fresh running out that she could not enter the port, in fact, only reached within 6 miles of the entrance. On the 26th the wind came in from the eastward, ran down to within a mile of the Bay, but could not take it, and had to get to sea, the gale increasing, with a very heavy sea. At midnight the Richmond River light bore W. by S., distant 4 miles, gale still increasing, with heavy rain. On 27th Cape Byron bore W. by S., distant 8 miles, ship labouring very heavily; at 8 p.m. the schooner took a heavy plunge, which twisted off the head of the foremast, bringing down the topgallant yard and mast and carrying away the jibboom, the ship falling off in the trough of the sea, and making very bad weather. The sea was making a clean sweep over the vessel, carrying away the wheelhouse, wheel, and binnacle, and blowing to pieces the canvas, &c. The storm foresail was then set for a mainsail, and the wind having shifted to S.E., the schooner rode much easier. On the 29th found she had drifted by the current 40 miles dead to windward, Cape Byron bearing W. by S., and as the weather went round to N.E. decided to bear up for this port.

The barque Coq-du-Village, from Newcastle, bound to Dunedin, arrived yesterday in a leaky condition. Captain Edmonds reports that he left Newcastle on the 25th May with a cargo consisting of 459 tons coal, and bound for Dunedin. Experienced a moderate wind veering from E.S.E. to E.N.E. until the 28th, when it freshened from the latter quarter, bringing up a lump of a sea. Captain Edmonds then ascertained upon examination that the vessel was making more water than usual, and on trying the pumps found that they were choked. He at once prudently bore up for Twofold Bay, where the pumps were lifted and cleared, and has come on to Sydney to await instructions from the owners.

The Balclutha (s.) left Rockhampton on Wednesday, the 31st ultimo, at 4 p.m., with the ketch Lucy Ravel in tow; cleared Keppel Bay at 10 p.m. same day; rounded Breaksea Spit on the 1st instant at 6 p.m.; passed Cape Moreton at 1 p.m. on the 2nd, and Smoky Cape on the 3rd at 4 p.m.; entered Sydney Heads at 6.45 p.m. on the 4th, and moored alongside the A. S. N. Co.'s wharf at 8 p.m. Experienced light south and south-east wind to Smoky Cape, thence fresh south-west winds, with fine weather throughout the passage.

The steamers Egmont, for Brisbane, and City of Adelaide, for Melbourne, proceeded to sea on Saturday. The latter vessel was crowded with passengers, amongst whom were Mr. W. S. Lyster's Opera company.

The fine Aberdeen clipper ship Kosciusko, has again arrived, under the command of Captain Lawson, after another good passage of 84 days from the Lizard—her last passage under the same commander only occupying 79 days. She left the London docks on the 1st March, and was off Torbay on the 10th, when owing to the heavy S.W. gales experienced, she was compelled to take shelter, remaining at Torbay for three days. After passing the Lizard experienced a succession of strong S.W. gales, which continued for seven days; passed Cape Finisterre on the 2[illegible]th, and was unfortunate in picking up very light N.E. trades; crossed the Equator on the 8th April in longitude 24 W., and had variable winds for the following ten days; got the S.E. trades in nine degrees south; they proved only moderate and were lost off the island of Trinidad. She rounded the Cape of Good Hope on the 6th May, and ran down her easting between the parallels of 41 and 44. Passed Cape Otway on the 1st June, and encountered strong squally weather with heavy rain on the Australian coast.

The Wentworth left Melbourne on the 1st June, at 6 p.m., rounded Wilson's Promontory next morning at 2.45 a.m.; Cape Howe was passed on the 2nd at 7.15 p.m., and the vessel arrived in Sydney on the 3rd, at 7.10 p.m. Experienced light west and south-west winds to Cape Howe thence to Sydney, moderate north-east winds and variable weather.

Captain Heselton, late proprietor of the Manly Beach pleasure steamer, and now in England, has had built to order a first-class sailing ship, intended for the colonial trade. The following is a description of the vessel:—"Ship Launch at Sunderland.—On the 12th March there was launched from the iron yard of Messrs. Bartram, Haswell, and Co., south docks, Sunderland, a beautifully modelled iron sailing barque, for Messrs. Porritt Webster, Captain Heselton, and M. Hick. She was built from models and plans prepared by Mr. Webster, and was superintended during her building by Captain Heselton, who takes command of the vessel at her completion. She is intended for the colonial trades, in which Captain Heselton has had many years' experience. The launch was a successful one, and took place in the presence of a large number of people. Numerous friends of the owners from Scarborough and Whitby were present. Mrs. Webster performed the ceremony of christening, and named the vessel The A1. Her dimensions are 196 feet, breadth 34 feet, depth 19 feet 8 inches, register tonnage 950, class the A1 English Lloyds. She has bow ports, and it is the first time that these have been fitted in an iron ship in Sunderland. They are so arranged that timber of large dimensions can be taken in and out of the lower hold and 'tween decks through large water-tight doors in the collision bulkhead. She is fitted with iron lower masts and yards, and double topsail and topgallant yards. The cabin accommodation for officers and seamen are contained in two large teak deck houses. The captain's cabin is fitted up with every convenience and comfort in the most modern style. The deck house for seamen is fitted up with all the latest improvements. Captain Heselton is also building a powerful tug boat, which will be ready in August, and intended for the Sydney trade.

WRECKS IN BASS'S STRAITS.

(From the Cornwall Chronicle, May 29.)

We mentioned in last issue that several reports had reached town about wrecks in the Straits. We are now indebted to Mr. C. Hinds, master of the cutter Rose, for the following information:—About the 4th instant a heavy N.W. gale was experienced, and on the 5th instant, when at the Sisters' Island, which is to the north of Flinders' Island, he found on the beach several cabin fittings, a ship's long-boat, very little damaged, only having a small hole in its side, and with the name "Julia, N.E., Cape St. John," on it. There were several portions of a boat which seemed to be a captain's gig. He also states that on another day he discovered on the northern end of Flinders Island a topgallantyard with a sail bent, but it was almost cut to pieces through beating on the rocks. A cook's galley broken to pieces, parts of deck planking from forty to fifty feet long, and a headboard with "Essie Black" branded upon it, were also found. A large gilt figure-head of a female, parts of boats, oars, and other portions of the vessel had also come ashore. Several portions of masts, spars, and various different fittings of a vessel, mattresses, &c., had been washed ashore at Hummock Island and other places at various times. Mr. Hinds also informs us that Mr. C. Green, of Sisters' Island told him that he observed a brig on Outer Sisters' Island on the 5th instant, but not having any boats at the time he was unable to go off to her. The next day a N.W. gale came on, and the brig disappeared. It will be remembered that the Essie Black was not heard of after leaving Newcastle some time back for Adelaide, and no doubt she was blown into Bass's Straits, and there wrecked on some of the islands. She has since broken up, which accounts for the large quantity of various portions of the vessel found on the islands. We have not heard of any vessel called the Julia having been wrecked, and it is to be hoped that she has only lost some of her boats through the force of a gale; but perhaps the brig seen by Mr. Green on The Sisters was the Julia, and she may have been blown on to some of the other islands.

DEPARTURES.

May 30.—Highflyer, for London; Transport, for Newcastle.

The brig Sarah, of the total wreck of which on the New Zealand coast there was intelligence in the Argus, was owned in Williamstown by Messrs. Wright, Orr, and Flett. The brig was covered by insurance, but not to the value set on her by the owners, for she was staunch and in first-rate order in every respect. She was 285 tons register, and was built some twelve years ago by Pile, of Sunderland, to the order of Messrs. Joshua, Brothers, for the Mauritius sugar trade, and was originally a composite vessel. Some time ago, however, the iron portion of her frame was removed, and from the extensive overhaul she received she could have run some six or seven years yet without reclassing. The Sarah left here on the 27th ultimo for Wellington, with general cargo, and was on her way thence to load timber at Wanganui. She was in charge of Captain J. Thompson, who had a crew of eight, all told, under him.—Argus, May 31.

COUGHING IN CHURCH.—A correspondent writes to the Melbourne Argus:—I take the liberty of calling attention through your columns to a Sunday nuisance to be met with in, I presume, every church, more especially at this season of the year, much to the annoyance of both worshippers and ministers—I refer to the almost incessant coughing indulged in during the service. It puzzles me why those suffering from severe colds do not stay at home, thereby giving themselves a better chance of speedy recovery, and saving their fellow-worshippers a great amount of irritation, and so enabling them to give undivided attention to the service. I think some blame attaches to our ministers for not reproving those who so inconsiderately expose themselves, and disturb the impressive quiet that so well becomes a worshipping assembly. The most "inspiring sermon" may be rendered powerless for good through either being imperfectly heard, or listened to under such irritating circumstances as those referred to.

TOURISTS.—A large number of tourists from various places in the West, and from Australia, are crossing the Continent, and on their journey are taking in the city of the Saints. Yesterday the leading hotels were full, a large proportion being of the class of travellers. Among a party at the Walker House were Thomas Alderson, J. J. Waddell, and W. H. Beaumont, of Sydney, and M. Sockelson, of Melbourne, all gentlemen of extensive business interests in Australia, who are now on their way to visit the Centennial Exhibition.—The Salt Lake Daily Tribune, April 18, 1876.

MR. JULIUS HAMBURGER has THIS DAY retired from our firm.

Mr. LEOPOLD HIRSCHMANN, passenger by the incoming P. and O. Mail, is a Partner in our firm from this date, and will conduct our business in Sydney, in conjunction with Mr. MATHIAS HAMBURGER.

Mr. C. ST. HEAPS and Mr. J. U. VONWILLER are empowered to represent us in our absence.

We take this opportunity to thank our friends for past favours, and hope for a continuance of them.

HAMBURGER BROTHERS, and CO.

TO ARRIVE PER MAIL STEAMER AVOCA.—2 cases English Lever, American Waltham, and Geneva Gold and Silver Watches, Gold, Silver, Jet and Fancy Jewellery, Backcombs and Novelties. 1 case Meerschaum Pipes.

HAMBURGER, BROTHERS, and CO.

THE NEW FASHIONS.—The styles for ladies' summer dresses are beautiful. There is a rumour that hoops are again coming in, but we scarcely credit it. To dress in good taste, one should provide ample protection against sudden changes of the weather. If, however, you contract a cold, make no delay in securing a good remedy. Should our friends ask our advice, we should say, unhesitatingly, that the best specific for pulmonic disorders is that standard old western medicine—HALL'S BALSAM. It is pleasant to take, and does its work faithfully. Price, 4s 6d per bottle, and sold by all druggists.

ELLIOTT, BROTHERS, Agents.

SUPERFINE SHAG TOBACCO, two shillings per lb. T. SAYWELL, No. 4, Park-street.

THE BLACK CURRANT BALSAM acts like a charm in all kinds of cough. Prepared only by SENIOR, the Governor's chemist.

SENIOR'S DISPENSING ESTABLISHMENT is the oldest in Australia, and has the largest staff of careful assistants.

OMAR'S PAIN KILLER is a sure remedy for all pains—internal or external.

IT having been MALICIOUSLY reported, with a view to the introduction of imitations, that our supply of WOLFE'S SCHNAPPS was exhausted, we have to state that notwithstanding the unprecedented and increasing demand, our stock is sufficient for all probable requirements until further shipments come to hand.

MONDAY, JUNE 5, 1876.

MR. DANGAR will doubtless get the thousand pounds he asks for towards the expenses of sending the rifle team to Philadelphia, and when Parliament grants the money nobody will complain very seriously of extravagance. Economy is a very useful thing, and the Assembly is none the worse for having such a contingent in it as that which composed the minority on Tuesday last to wage warfare against all needless expenditure. But economy, like everything else, may be carried too far, and the saving of a thousand pounds in one session may be effected at the risk of a greater loss of reputation, if not of money, in all future ones. It is not in the direction in which Mr. DANGAR is moving that public moneys have been wasted in the past, and it is scarcely in this direction that they will be wasted to any serious extent in the future. The American Centennial will not occur next year; and even if another international rifle contest should turn up elsewhere, the spending of another thousand pounds upon it might be to our credit, if not to our advantage.

The resolution which Mr. DANGAR now brings before the Assembly differs in many respects from the one he moved six months ago. That resolution asked for the sum of £2000; this asks for £1000. The former resolution asked the Assembly to defray the expenses of a rifle team; the present one, as Mr. DANGAR explained, asks that the thousand pounds may supplement an equal sum to be raised by voluntary contributions. The resolution proposed in December last was towards a project that took most people by surprise, and that struck them as utopian. The money to be asked for on Friday next is towards a movement to which our Australian riflemen are committed, and for which the Victorian portion of the team have already received their money and are on their way to Philadelphia. The question is not now whether our men are to go to Philadelphia or not—Mr. DANGAR is resolved that they shall go if he pays the money himself. The question, he submits, is that the pleasure of doing this should be shared by the Legislative Assembly.

Mr. PARKES was quite right when he intimated that the question whether Parliament should grant money towards sending Australian riflemen to shoot at Philadelphia is one on which much may be said on both sides. In this, however, it is not at all different from almost everything else that is submitted to the Assembly, and the Assembly is not peculiar in finding much to say on both sides of most things. It was made very clear during the debate on Tuesday that it is not easy to find tangible reasons for such a vote as the one asked for by Mr. DANGAR. The objections urged against the motion were, however, successfully disposed of. It was clearly shown by Mr. PARKES and others that there is no analogy between a proposition to pay for a team of cricketers and a team of riflemen. Even if there were, the objection to the grant from a Parliamentary standpoint might still be more plausible than real. There has never been a very definite classification of things that should be supported by Parliament and of those that should be paid for wholly by private contributions. In some countries, in France for example, the pleasures of the people are considered a legitimate charge upon the national exchequer. In this country we leave the people to pay for their own pleasures, and yet the Assembly has contributed its quota towards the purposes of the Australian Jockey Club. It has, however, never granted money for the purposes of cricket; and although the progress of cricket has been supposed to have a bearing on the question of public education, so far as physical training is concerned, it is not supposed to have sufficient to do with the ends of Government to warrant a vote of public money on its behalf. But the Assembly does pay for the training which is necessary to successful rifle shooting, and, except among peace societies people are accustomed to believe that the use of the rifle is now one of the means necessary to a proper national defence. It does not, of course, follow that because we ought to pay for the improvement of rifle shooting at home we ought to pay for the sending of crack shots to Philadelphia; but an objection that is valid against the latter will be valid against the former.

The rule which usually regulates Parliamentary grants in matters of this sort is that measures which are closely identified with the public interest should be assisted by grants of public money when such assistance is requisite to their being successfully carried out, and on this ground Mr. DANGAR has a reasonable claim on the liberality of the Assembly. We question whether the achievements of our riflemen in America will result in the coming of a large number of Americans to New South Wales, as some members of the Assembly seem to suppose. We also doubt very much whether the sending of a rifle team to America will be worth more to the colony than the sending of all the exhibits that Australia can possibly command. It may also be questioned whether the hope of our riflemen beating the riflemen of the United States is one that we may very confidently indulge. In rifle-shooting the boast that America is able to beat the world has some foundation in fact. In this department of national skill the Americans have beaten the Irish and the Irish have beaten the English, so that Australia has only to beat America to win what an American himself would call the championship of the universe. We may perhaps hardly anticipate so wide a conquest as this just yet. It may be true that the shooting of our champions is quite equal to that of the Americans in some of their best performances, but battles of skill are also to a large extent battles of chance. SYDNEY SMITH once declared that old friendships are often destroyed by a thing so unlikely as toasted cheese, and that hard salted meat has led to many a suicide. NAPOLEON attributed the loss of a battle to a badly cooked dinner, which by disturbing his digestion had temporarily affected his brain and made it unfit for its usual work. Our own men, it is said, lost the last match in Victoria not through their being inferior shots, but to the accident of their having inferior rifles. If the prospect of beating America were the chief thing to be considered there might be a great deal more said for a cricketing contest than for a rifle contest, for while America occupies a secondary place in cricket playing, she occupies the foremost place in rifle shooting.

But while we may not very confidently expect to beat the Americans in rifle shooting we may have very good reasons for trying to do it, and after the action that has been taken in Victoria to make the movement an Australian and not merely a colonial affair, it would neither be graceful nor creditable in our Assembly to refuse to have anything to do with the matter. No doubt there is a side of these contests that is not very serious. From certain stand points they may afford congenial and exciting recreations to many people and not much more, but from others they furnish opportunities for international reciprocities that bring the people of the world nearer and make them feel kindlier. Besides which competition in rifle-shooting as in everything else is the soul of trade. The use of the rifle may not be the highest of uses in the world, but it is one that cannot be well dispensed with. The nation that would exist must learn to defend itself, and national self-defence now means, to a large extent, the art of using the rifle. Thirty years ago the rifle was comparatively unknown in the world; now it is an instrument approved by all military authorities, and adopted by nearly all civilised nations. We hope that it will be long before our rifles will be wanted for anything more serious than the contest for which Mr. DANGAR is asking for this thousand pounds.

WE have received a circular containing an appeal for help from the Adelaide "Aborigines Friends' Association," the honorary secretary to which requires money to meet pressing need, and annual subscriptions on which the society can rely in time to come. Human sympathy is not limited by geographical boundaries, and perhaps there may be in New South Wales some who, as far as their means allow, will be glad to aid in any rightly directed effort to ameliorate the condition of Australian aborigines wherever they may be accessible to good influences. White people have done much to debase them, but very little to raise them in the scale of humanity. It may not be possible to prevent the extinction of the race; but, having taken possession of the lands of the natives, and having brought them into contact with many of the evils of civilization, we ought not to fold our hands as though we had done all that is required of us, if it can be shown that there is still any reasonable prospect of success. The honorary secretary to the Aborigines Friends' Association in South Australia refers to the Native Station at Point Macleay with the conviction that "if Reidtown, with its neat cottages for native families, its clean and well-kept church, its spacious schoolhouses, its workshops and farm buildings, with the various farming operations, could be seen by strangers, the sight would be both astonishing and gratifying, and would call forth ample and ready aid from all who desire to help the helpless. In the school about forty children are boarded, clothed, and taught the elements of common school instruction, with direct religious teaching and influence. The farm is cultivated by natives, under the direction of a white overseer, and a considerable portion of the masonry required is executed in a thoroughly workmanlike manner by the blacks also. The sheep and cattle are also tended by natives, and the society hope shortly to be able to make a large increase in the number of the former, so as in a few years to make the whole establishment self-supporting, except of course as to the directly religious instruction, which must be met by the willing offerings of those who feel its importance, and are glad to aid in its extension. The work at Point Macleay might well gladden the heart of any one who has any feeling of the 'enthusiasm of humanity,' while the devout Christian will rejoice that over all, and mingled with all the varied secular operations, there is the constant and effective spiritual oversight of those who love the work for the Master's sake."

A short time ago we received "The First Report of the Maloga Mission School, Murray River, New South Wales, by DANIEL MATTHEWS," who appears to be influenced greatly by "the enthusiasm of humanity." We agree with him that the generally accepted dogma that the race cannot be saved from utter extinction ought not to be used as an excuse for inaction; but he is not correct in saying that the fact has never been fully recognised that the aborigines have valid claims upon the Governments and people of these colonies. The fact has been recognised, but owing to the circumstances of the country and the habits of the aborigines, the operation of law has been weak, and the efforts of public and private benevolence have been insufficient to accomplish the object desired. There is a law to prevent the people from supplying aborigines with intoxicating liquors, and yet strong drink has made great ravages among them. There is a law which aims at preventing other injuries from being inflicted on the natives and on society by the white population, and yet we see sometimes in the streets of Sydney, small groups of "aboriginals," whose colour becomes paler and paler, until at last the aboriginal caste can scarcely be distinguished. They wander about, living evidences of European vice—living proofs of civilization disgraced! The report of the Maloga Mission School shows to what temptations aboriginal pupils are exposed. They cannot be thoroughly isolated and they are consequently surrounded by antagonistic influences. On one occasion two native girls were enticed away by evil-disposed lubras; the blacks had been supplied with drink, and the ruin of one of them was plotted by a young man, "whose birth, family, and education, if no higher motive, should have restrained him from dishonour so humiliating." The writer asks: "If the perpetrator of this cruel act had been an aboriginal native, and the victim one of the fair daughters of our race, would not the hands of justice have been raised to arrest and punish the culprit?"

If any practical plan for the civilization and Christianization of the aborigines could be adopted with a reasonable prospect of success we believe that abundant means would be forthcoming to carry it into execution. A training school, like that in South Australia, may perhaps perform useful service by qualifying aboriginal natives to take part in the ordinary duties of civilized life; but little permanent good can be accomplished by bribing children with lollies and retaining them for a period little longer than the sweetmeats last. In Victoria there are several aboriginal stations, but we have not heard that in any of the Australian colonies much progress has been made in the way of aboriginal civilization; and, apart from that kind of industrial training which is to be acquired in connection with the ordinary business of station life, we fear that little can be accomplished.

In Queensland, as we have often read of late, the native difficulty is of a serious character. White and yellow men have been frequently slaughtered, and a somewhat severe policy has been adopted. The native mounted police are said to have treated their sable brethren with unnecessary rigour. In 1874 the Aborigines' Protection Society suggested to the SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE COLONIES that the Royal Commission which was sometime ago appointed in Queensland should be directed to inquire into certain charges of cruelties preferred against the native mounted police. But in a communication by way of reply, forwarded in January last, the Hon. G. W. HERBERT stated that the Earl of CARNARVON had recently received from the Governor of the colony a despatch which discouraged the proposed inquiry. The members of the Royal Commission said, amongst other things, "that almost the only persons who could afford trustworthy information are the native police officers themselves, whose testimony, if favourable to the force, would not satisfy the public; and that all that could be advanced, either in favour of or against the force, is already known to most persons resident for any length of time in the colony." His Excellency the Governor of Queensland, in forwarding the report, expressed his opinion that, in the absence of any specific charge against the native police, the inquiry was unnecessary at that time. He added, "that having regard to the lawless and savage acts which often, under most difficult and urgent circumstances, they are called upon to repress, he believes that there is no reason to think that their officers overlook inhumanity towards the wild tribes, or that such inhumanity has been of frequent occurrence." We are glad, however, to learn from our Brisbane correspondent that a commission has been appointed to inquire into the condition of the aborigines of Queensland, with a view to their improvement. We unfortunately know the aborigines under one of two states: either as hostile tribes who resist the progress of the colonists, or as demoralised by the vices of civilization. In the first condition they are inaccessible: in the second their case is worse than the first. What then are we to do? If there is anything practicable which the State has not attempted, and which it ought to try, let it be propounded in our legislature. If there is anything that the Churches ought to do, and which they have hitherto neglected, let it be tried by them. Certainly society might have done more if society had itself been more highly civilised, and more moral, and more fully actuated by Christian principles; but while society is being raised in the scale of civilization and morality, and perhaps, also, in the scale of Christianity, the aborigines of Australia are becoming more hopelessly debased, and more small in numbers, until at last they will pass away like a dark shadow fleeing silently but surely before the dawn of day.

SUPREME COURT.—Master's Office, this day, 11 a.m.: Lloyd and another v. Vickery and another, adjourned defendant Vickery's evidence.

DISTRICT COURT.—Monday, June 5.—Causes: Lunn v. Lowden, Municipality of Randwick v. Gedryes, Wigan v. O'Donnell, Carriet v. Greer, Collins v. Lygne, Scott v. Hordern, Woods v. Fairfax and another, Dunbabin v. Williams, Kinloch v. Morgan, Wright v. Thorncroft, Alston v. Boylson, Sanderson v. Smith, Brush v. Edwards, Lelland v. Walker, McGregor and others v. Casey, M'Nab v. Cox, Mullin and another v. Jackson, Asher v. M'Clusken, Kite v. Turner, Dixon v. Alzano, Guvatt v. Benbow, Lasbury v. Saywell, Buckingham v. Reynolds.

A SECOND CABLE TO EUROPE.—In reference to the suggested second telegraphic cable to Europe, we understand that a communication has been received by the Government from M. Simon, to the effect that, in the event of a second cable being laid down by way of America, the Government of New Caledonia would be disposed to co-operate in the establishment of such a line of telegraph so far as concerns the securing of a minimum of interest to the company undertaking the speculation.

POST AND TELEGRAPH OFFICE IN ELIZABETH-STREET.—A correspondent writes to point out the advantage it would be to the legal profession especially, as well as to the public at large, if a post, telegraph, and money-order office were established in the vicinity of Elizabeth-street.

TRIAL OF YELLOW JIMMY.—The Attorney-General has directed that the trial of the aboriginal, James Fitzgerald, alias Yellow Jimmy, for the rape upon Mrs. Spratton, of Bolaro, shall take place at the next sittings of the Central Criminal Court, at Darlinghurst, on the 7th of August. The prisoner was committed to take his trial at the Goulburn Circuit Court on the 9th of October next.

JUROR FINED.—On Saturday last, at the Court of Quarter Sessions, a fine of 40s. was inflicted on Thomas Crawley, farrier, of 15, Hunter-street, for having failed to put in an appearance when his name was called on the jury panel. The following were also fined in the course of the sittings in like amounts:—On the 29th of May, John Clarke, grocer, of 72, York-street; and on the 1st instant, Robert Curtis, butcher, corner of King and Kent streets.

ARRIVAL OF THE SUEZ MAIL.—The telegraphic news by the P. and O. steamer Sumatra, which arrived at Adelaide yesterday morning, will be found on the second and third pages of to-day's issue.

THE BROKEN CABLE.—The following telegram from Adelaide was posted at the Exchange on Saturday morning:—"The steamer Claud Hamilton has been engaged to proceed to Port Darwin to pick up the cable. She will call at Sydney for the instruments and officers of the steamer Edinburgh."

THE RAILWAY CLOCKS.—A short time back it will be remembered, complaints were made about certain irregularities of which the clocks at the Redfern Railway Station had been guilty. Those irregularities, it has been found, were due, not to any fault in the clocks themselves, but to the obstruction caused by a number of swallows building their nests in the station so as to interfere with the wire which passes between the works in the centre of the building to the clocks at each end. In order to save the great bulkiness and unsightliness which would have been unavoidable had the outer and inner clocks at both ends of the station been constructed with their works within them, Mr. Tornaghi ingeniously contrived to fix the works in the centre of the building, and to furnish motion to the four clocks by means of two wires, extending in opposite directions one to each pair of clocks. By this simple, yet effective plan, the four clocks are made to go by the same machinery, and therefore are prevented from disagreeing in regard to time, while an absence of all appearance of bulkiness is secured, as the dials only stand out a few inches from the wall on either side. The building of the nests, therefore, in the way of the wires, retarded the motion of the clocks. The wire has now been covered, so that the same obstruction cannot occur again. The extinction of the light, which once occurred, was owing to the turning off of the gas at the meter in the station. The machinery which directs these wonderful clocks also attends to their illumination, by turning the gas on at night, and lowering it in the morning, just enough to preserve a tiny flame, which, when night again comes on, is increased to brilliancy by the apparatus in the clock, allowing more gas to be supplied to it. But, when the gas was turned off at the meter, the tiny flame was extinguished, and at night the clocks were, of course, dark. This difficulty will be obviated in future by laying on a separate supply of gas. The clocks are not yet completed, as Mr. Tornaghi intends putting in a new escapement, which will better suit the peculiar and novel character of the works than that now in use. When they are completed they will be found to be wonders of ingenuity and skill. The manner in which the same power is made to guide the hands of a pair of clocks, in a way reverse to one another is wonderfully ingenious.

VOLUNTEER INSPECTION.—The Commandant's inspection of Nos. 1 and 2 Highlanders, and the South Sydney Companies, 2nd Regiment Volunteer Rifles, took place at the Victoria Barracks, on Saturday afternoon. After the men had fallen in, their arms and accoutrements were examined, and they were then exercised in outpost duty under the direction of the Brigade-major, in company drill under the command of their own officers, and, finally in light infantry drill. The men acquitted themselves very creditably, but the opinion of the Commandant was not expressed, the practice being to state that opinion in a brigade order a day or two after the inspection. The number of men present was as follows:—No. 1 Highlanders, 37, under Captain Campbell, Lieutenant Alexander Fraser, and Ensign Hamilton; No. 2 Highlanders, 27, under Captain Chisholm and Lieutenant Fraser; South Sydney, 38, under Captain Hillier, Lieutenant Burnett, and Ensign Nobbs. The officers of the staff present were—Colonel Richardson, Major Christie, and Major Baynes of the general staff; and Lieutenant-colonel Goodlet, Major Phillips, and Adjutant Wilson of the regimental staff.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE THAMES.—In our telegraphic news per Sumatra it is stated that the sculler's race for the Championship of the Thames, between Sadler, of London, and Trickett, of Sydney, will take place on the 28th of June.

STEALING WATER.—The heavy penalty imposed upon a defendant in the Central Police Court on Thursday should act as a warning to persons who use water and evade the payment of water-rates. The defendant was summoned to show cause against an information by Mr. D. Robinson, inspector of water-service, which alleged that, on the 23rd May, the defendant did unlawfully appropriate to his own use water from a certain pipe under the charge of the Mayor, aldermen, and citizens of Sydney. According to the evidence, defendant had the water laid on to six houses, for one of which, his own residence, he paid rates. For the other five no rates were paid, and the inspector was unable to say how long the water had been laid on. The defendant was fined £20, with costs; or, in default, three months' imprisonment.

CORONER'S COURT.—The City Coroner held an inquest on Saturday, at the Alexandria Hotel, Raglan-street, Alexandria, concerning the death of a woman named Elizabeth Tokley. The evidence showed that the deceased had for some time been suffering from pains in her left side and in her head. Her husband left home at twenty minutes to 5 on Friday morning, when she was apparently in good health, and spoke to him. About half-past 7 o'clock, Charlotte Emma Tokley, step-daughter of the deceased, went to her bedroom and called her several times, and getting no answer called a neighbour in, and she went into the room and said her mother was dead. Deceased gave her son his breakfast at about twenty minutes to 6 o'clock on that morning, and then went to bed again. She was then apparently all right, but very pale. Dr. Hansard gave it as his opinion that death had resulted from disease of the heart. The jury's verdict was in accordance with the medical testimony.

THE PLAGUE IN MESOPOTAMIA AND BAGDAD.—The Times observes that the intelligence which it published on the 31st March would two centuries ago have excited a greater sensation than the outbreak of almost formidable war or even than the news of a crushing defeat. The plague, it seems clear, is once more threatening the confines of Europe. The progress of the pestilence last year in the valley of the Lower Euphrates aroused some alarm, and the contagion some weeks ago began to spread in Mesopotamia, and since the beginning of March it has reached Bagdad. The new outbreak shows much of the old and mysterious fierceness before which medical science for many centuries recoiled in despair. There is no reason to expect that its ravages will be limited to the provinces of Turkey in Asia. Both in Egypt and in European Turkey the conditions in which the plague breeds and spreads are still prevailing, with little mitigation since the time when Cairo and Constantinople were almost annually decimated by its attacks. Happily, there is not the least ground for believing that the essential conditions for its reproduction in Western Europe any longer exist. Thus we have hardly more than a scientific interest in the movement of a distant but most deadly enemy. There is not much more chance of an invasion of England by the plague than there is of the destruction of London by an earthquake like that of Lisbon.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT AT A RAILWAY STATION.—On Thursday morning a shocking accident occurred at the Macquarie Plains railway station. The Western Independent gives the following particulars:—Sarah Silk, a girl thirteen years of age (formerly an inmate of the Protestant Orphan School), was some twelve months since engaged by the station-master at Macquarie Plains as domestic help. On Thursday morning last the little girl had occasion to rise earlier than usual, and was on the platform when the 5 a.m. train was passing the station. The poor child was walking backwards on the edge of the platform, her whole attention riveted on the train, when she suddenly tripped and rolled from the platform on to the line, and was struck by the fire-box of the engine and thrown a distance of forty yards, and rendered insensible. Every assistance available was rendered, and the sufferer was conveyed to Bathurst and placed in the hospital, and attended by Dr. Curtis, when it was found that, although sadly hurt, it was hoped not fatally so.

A SAD BEREAVEMENT.—The Inverell Dispatch of the 20th ultimo contains the following:—We are glad to learn that the epidemic which lately prevailed in Inverell is gradually decreasing and losing the virulent character which in some cases it manifested. Notwithstanding the severe type which it took, we are thankful to be able to report that, with a few exceptions, the attacks have not been fatal, one of these exceptional cases being very lamentable. We of course refer to the deaths in the family of our worthy police inspector, Mr. Charles Harrison. On the 15th of April his eldest son, Charles Algernon Harrison, a handsome, bright youth of ten years, died, followed on the 18th by his daughter, Alice Maud, a little girl eight years; on the 28th, his oldest child, Florence Emily, a beautiful girl, and one deeply regretted by all, aged thirteen years, died; and last of all his other son, Arthur Leslie, died on the 3rd of May, aged five years. In less than one month there were four healthy children in one house struck down by this fatal scourge. The two remaining children were also attacked with the same dire disease, but we are happy to be able to report that they are now past all danger.

KANGAROO COURSING MATCHES.—The general holiday observed on her Majesty's Birthday (writes the Narrabri Herald) was taken advantage of by a large number of our local sportsmen to hold the first of a series of kangaroo coursing matches. Some thirty lovers of the sport, fairly mounted, took part in the proceedings, which took place on Bobbiwa, Killarney Run. The weather was lovely. Messrs. James Moseley and James Lillyman, jun., officiated as judges. During the forenoon eight of the dogs entered were run off, the winner being Mr. W. Thurlow's Zoe. The running is reported to have been splendid. At first some difficulty was experienced in the starting, but experience will obviate the recurrence of this drawback, and with this exception everything would appear to have been well managed, and the whole affair a grand success. Another match will take place during next month. Other hunting was engaged in, and thirteen kangaroos and two emus were made trophies of the chase.

MEERSCHAUM.—Concerning the reported discovery of meerschaum in Tasmania, the Cornwall Chronicle writes:—A mineral has been discovered in the neighbourhood of St. Leonards resembling very closely the meerschaum of which pipes are made, and some very good pipes and other articles have been turned out of rough surface specimens of it. Whether a pure meerschaum or not, this mineral is certainly a species of magnesite. It is opaque, with an earthy fracture and a dull lustre; its colour is creamy; it is remarkably light, and it adheres to the tongue as do most minerals of this class. It cuts easily with a knife, and in a lathe may be readily turned to any design, and takes a brilliant polish.

IMMIGRATION.—As a means of encouraging immigrants to settle in the colony, a correspondent suggests that to every immigrant who comes here at his own expense a grant of say 25 acres of land should be made, with a right of grazing over 75 acres more; and that on his proving that he has cultivated the land granted scientifically within three years, another 25 acres should be granted, and so on until the holding amounted to 100 acres. This concession to be extended to the Chinese, provided they bring their wives with them. Blocks of the best agricultural land should be set apart for this purpose, and roads thereto properly constructed. If this plan were adopted and properly advertised, our correspondent believes that an extraordinary impetus would be given to colonization, and the value of land generally much enhanced.

PETITION OF RIGHT.—It will prove a matter of great interest to members of the public having claims against the Government, that by a decision lately given in the Queen's Bench in January last, in the case of Rustomjee v. the Queen, the law has been positively established that "The Statute of Limitation" cannot be pleaded to a "Petition of right."

THE CIVIL SERVICE.—A correspondent complains bitterly of the injustice to the Government officers of the withdrawal from the Estimates of all the proposed increases in consequence of the refusal of the Legislative Assembly to grant an increase to Mr. Halloran's salary.

A PLEA FOR TOLERATION.—That genial, wise, and witty American author, Oliver Wendell Holmes, poet and philosopher in one, says, in his "Professor at the Breakfast Table:"—"Do you know that every man has a religious belief peculiar to himself? Smith is always a Smithite. He takes in exactly Smith's-worth of knowledge, Smith's-worth of truth, of beauty, of divinity. And Brown has from time immemorial been trying to burn him, to excommunicate him, to anonymous-article him, because he did not take in Brown's-worth of knowledge, truth, beauty, divinity. He cannot do it, any more than a pint-pot can hold a quart, or a quart-pot be filled by a pint. Iron is essentially the same everywhere and always; but the sulphate of iron is never the same as the carbonate of iron. Truth is invariable; but the Smithate of truth must always differ from the Brownate of truth."

A LANDSLIP.—A letter received by Mr. J. W. Graves, of Hobart Town (says the Mercury), from James Alexander, better known as "Old Alick," who has for some years resided on Franklin Island, records an interesting occurrence that occurred there on the 18th May. Alick states that himself and the boy who resides with him were at the back of the island, when they had a narrow escape of being buried alive. They had just crossed the flat ground at the back end of the long hill, when the land began to move steadily, "the same as a ship being launched." In a few moments an immense mass of earth, the best piece of land on the island, fell into the water, leaving, as the writer describes it, "a great gulf." Franklin Island, as is well known, was named after that noble lady who passed away last year; but the native name of it was Teemteletta, or mountain in the water. It was given by Lady Franklin to the people of the colony, and has always been looked upon with great interest.

MANSLAUGHTER IN MELBOURNE.—An inquest was held by the City Coroner, at the Melbourne Hospital (reports the Argus), on the body of William Valender, the man who died in that institution on Sunday last from injuries he received in Hayward-lane the same morning. The evidence went to show that the unfortunate man had been assaulted on Sunday morning by a young man named William Bredin, son of John Bredin, a storekeeper in Little Lonsdale-street East. The deceased was knocked over, and received a fatal fracture of the skull by his head coming in contact with the pavement. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that William Bredin did kill and slay the deceased on the 28th May, and Dr. Youl committed the young man for trial on a charge of manslaughter. Bail, however, was allowed.

STRANGE SHOOTING CASE.—The correspondent of the Argus telegraphs from Wood's Point on the 30th May:—Mr. Christian Steinbock, manager of the Aberfeldy Gold Mining Company, of Aberfeldy, was shot at twice while attempting to enter the company's office yesterday at noon, to hold a meeting of shareholders, by one Charles Graves, who was in the company's office. Mr. Steinbock was hit in the arm by a spent bullet, and Messrs. David Donaldson and Henry Bennett, shareholders in the company, were cut and scratched by splinters from the office door. The first shot, which was fired through a crack of the front office door, passed within two inches of Mr. Donaldson's breast, and lodged in the opposite bank. The second shot came through the opening of the side door and hit a hard substance, and lodged flattened in Mr. Steinbock's arm, cutting through the coat and shirt, and bruising the arm.

BOAT RACE.—A race between Pearce and Solomon, two well known scullers, for £25 aside, is to take place on the Parramatta River, next Saturday. Both men have been in active training for some time, the former being coached by T. M'Gregor, and the latter by Kelly. A steamer has been engaged to follow the race.

REV. CHARLES CLARK.—This well-known lecturer, who, about six months ago, attracted very large audiences to the School of Arts and Masonic Hall, will leave for San Francisco, en route for Philadelphia, by the next mail steamer. He is at present lecturing every evening in the principal cities of Victoria, and next week, commencing on Friday, the 9th instant, he will give a series of farewell entertainments in the School of Arts. Since his last visit to Sydney, Mr. Clark has written two or three new lectures, the principle of which are on "Oliver Cromwell" and "Thackeray." The former is described by the Melbourne Argus to be far more enjoyable than even the "Tower of London" entertainments; and the lecture on the author of "Vanity Fair" and the "Newcomes" has been specially reserved for Mr. Clark's farewell appearances in Melbourne. The first lecture of the farewell series to be given on Sydney will be "Oliver Cromwell," which will be given in Friday and Saturday next.

BOTANIC GARDENS.—The weather on Saturday afternoon being exceedingly fine there was a very large attendance to hear the performances of the Head-Quarters Band, at the Gardens. The programme, which was of the ordinary length, included the very pretty "Villa Franca" march, the overture to "Fra Diavolo," (cannot something more new be found?) a selection from "Martha," a quadrille, waltz, and galop. During the short winter days it would be well if the performances of the band commenced a little earlier, as the afternoon so soon becomes chilly. Perhaps Lieut. Callen will take the hint.

MILTON AMATEUR DRAMATIC SOCIETY.—The principal members of the late Bon Accord Dramatic Club having recently combined with the Edmund Burke Dramatic Club, a general meeting of the combined club was held in St. Bridget's Hall, on Monday evening last, Mr. S. F. Scott in the chair. There was a very large attendance of members. It was agreed on the motion of Mr. W. J. Bowden, seconded by Mr. J. N. Fay,—"That the combined club be henceforth known as the Milton Amateur Dramatic Society." Mr. W. G. Leslie was re-elected stage manager, and Mr. J. N. Fay, hon. secretary. After several important motions had been discussed and disposed of, the meeting adjourned.

REDFERN CRICKET CLUB.—An excursion to Chowder Bay was given on Saturday last by the Redfern Cricket Club, for the purpose of obtaining funds to be devoted to the purposes of the cricket ground. The commodious steamer Quondong left Circular Quay shortly after 2 o'clock with over 200 passengers, who, on reaching Chowder, entered with great spirit into various amusements. The Young Australia brass band had been engaged for the occasion, and furnished the music in the dancing pavilion, which was patronized by the majority of the fair sex with their attendant cavaliers. The weather was in every respect suitable for outdoor exercise, and it was not until indications appeared of the rapid approach of night that the excursionists returned on board the steamer. Circular Quay was reached at 6 o'clock, nothing having occurred during the afternoon to mar the general enjoyment.

THEATRE ROYAL.—There was again a large attendance at this theatre on Saturday, when Mrs. Scott-Siddons appeared in two parts, namely, Iolanthe in "King René's Daughter," and Juliana in "The Honeymoon." As the blind princess her rendering was marked by graphic vividness and power; it was finished and yet quiet, and devoid of any attempt at display. She divested the character of any repulsiveness, and imparted to it a great attraction. She was as usual applauded greatly, and recalled before the curtain. The same programme will be repeated this evening.

VICTORIA THEATRE.—The last evening of the opera season was dedicated to "La Belle Helene," and there was a crowded house. The opera passed off with much success. The company took their departure for Melbourne at midnight by the A. S. N. Company's steamer City of Adelaide. Mr. J. K. Emmet is announced to make his first appearance on Saturday next.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Choukiczee, the Chinese giant, who made his début before an astonished public at this house on Saturday evening, is really a wonderful specimen of elongated humanity. He is stated to be 7 feet 11 inches in height, thus overtopping considerably his confrère Chang; and he appears to have attained that exaltation. He is also stout in proportion, and altogether would be an ugly fellow to get into a quarrel with. He shook hands from the stage with several gentlemen in one of the private boxes; and the tallest man in the company being called for to compare sizes, must have felt small indeed, for the foreign gentleman with the unpronounceable name placed his arm over the other's head without being in any way embarrassed. People who feel an interest in inspecting a lusus naturæ of this sort will find their curiosity repaid.

WILSON'S HIPPODROME.—On Saturday there was an afternoon performance at the Hippodrome. Some six or seven hundred children connected with St. Benedict's schools, as well as many other young folks, were present, and there was also a good attendance of adults. It is needless to say that the youngsters were thoroughly delighted with the performance. It would be difficult to say which of the feats pleased them most—the chariot racing, the tumbling, the tricks of the performing horses, or the gymnastics on the trapeze—as all of the performers came in for a share of their applause. The children, we are informed, enjoyed the treat at a reduced rate. In the evening the hippodrome was crowded with spectators. On Wednesday or Thursday afternoon next the inmates of the Deaf and Dumb and Orphan Asylums are expected to be present.

PRESENTATION TO DR. LINDEMAN.

(From the Corowa Free Press.)

The vintage in this district being at an end, and Dr. Lindeman having to return to Sydney shortly, the winemakers, desirous of showing their great esteem for that gentleman, invited him to a luncheon at the Empire Hotel. About a dozen gentlemen were present, and apologies were presented from several of the oldest vignerons in the Murray Valley, regretting that the short notice would not allow them to be present on the occasion. The primary object of the luncheon was to present to the doctor a substantial proof of gratitude for the great service he had rendered to the district by imparting freely, and without reserve, his knowledge of the culture of the vine and management of the cellar, the result, in his case, of a lifelong devotion to the study of the same. The gift was a very neat silver tea and coffee service, valued at £20, the different vessels bearing upon one side an inscription, and upon the other side the monogram of the recipient.

Mr. J. M. Sanger, of Waugamong, occupied the chair; Mr. J. F. Danwell the vice-chair. The chairman observed that it gave him infinite pleasure to be present in the company of one who held such a high place as an authority on vine culture. It had been said that the importance of the wine trade was deteriorating, but he was in a position to prove that such was not the case, and that there never was a time when fairer prospects shone for the vignerons. They had for years been labouring under the shadow of a dense cloud, but the appearance of their friend, Dr. Lindeman, in their midst had been like the sun breaking out on a cloudy day. The extent of the service he had rendered to the district was almost incalculable. He had experimentally proved that the two great necessary adjuncts to the successful manufacture of palatable wines were—persistently sulphuring the vines, and racking as soon as the wine cleared. Unimportant as these two operations might seem to the unthrifty vigneron, they were the cause of the grand advancement lately made in the quality of the Murray wines, and were not generally known until the local advent of their guest. They had every confidence now in being able to produce wine fit to place in any market, and a different state of feeling from that which formerly ruled over them during vintages of past years, when they were conscious that they were making nothing but vinegar, and bad at that. At the present juncture their position was, that the wines contained in their cellars (which before represented so much lost money) were now bona fide capital. He could never get tired of repeating that it was to Dr. Lindeman they owed the existence of this happy state of things, nor could he find appropriate words, or at least words which could sufficiently express his sense of the obligations which the district was under to that gentleman for the unselfish manner in which he had not only imparted his knowledge, but had been at considerable trouble and expense in endeavouring to force upon those engaged in the business the truth of his own convictions with regard to sulphuring and racking.

In response, Dr. Lindeman said he could not but feel gratified at the manner in which his health had been drunk, and at receipt of the very handsome present then before him. He did not take credit to himself for all that had been said of him by his friend, Mr. Sanger, or he would go to Sydney a vainer as well as a richer man. He felt the kindness of their intentions to do honour to a guest who only occasionally resided in their midst, and the fact that he had made a number of friends in these his old days was a source of much comfort and gratification. He had many friends through life, and although the majority had dropped off in the way that all must go, others took their places, and so he supposed it would be to the end of the chapter. Life was a waste from the cradle to the grave, and occasions like the present were the oases in the desert, and without these green spots existence would be dreary indeed. He would speak more particularly of wine and wine making, for while on that subject it was unlikely the sensations which then oppressed him would be visible. There was something which fluttered about an old fellow's heart and checked his utterance. The speaker concluded by dwelling at some length upon the rise and progress of the wine industry.

THE NEW MURRAY BRIDGE.—Every day (the Riverine Herald writes) progress may be noted in connection with the new Murray bridge. Several of the cylinders have been filled in with concrete, and the sinking of the others continues without intermission. On the Moama side of the river the services of the diver have been found requisite to excavate the foundation of the cylinders near the river, water having been struck at a comparatively few feet. The water comes in rapidly, and the diver prosecutes his work submerged to the depth of 19 feet. The material for the concrete—fine quartz—is brought from the Taradale mines by railway. The concrete sets very quickly; that which was placed in the cylinders on Saturday is already as hard as freestone. In the mixing of the concrete a fine red sand, obtained on the banks of the Campaspe near the new bridge, is used.

SHOCK OF EARTHQUAKE.—On the 28th May, at about twelve minutes to 10 o'clock, a shock of earthquake is said by the Western Advocate to have been distinctly felt in Orange. There is much variance of opinion as to the direction it took; there can, however, be no possible doubt as to its being genuine, and had it been either longer of duration or stronger, serious damage would probably have been the result.

VICTORIAN RAILWAYS.—The receipts on the Victorian railways for the week ending 25th May, amounted to £18,010 15s. 5d. The amount received for the corresponding week of last year was £17,320 7s. 7d.

STRANGE HALLUCINATION.—Some few weeks ago (relates the Yass Courier of June 2) an industrious carrier on the road between Yass and Goulburn, named Henry Myers, took ill, the indisposition apparently arising from aberration of mind more than from bodily disease. He was admitted to the hospital, where he underwent treatment until last Wednesday evening, when it was considered desirable to bring him before the Police Court as being of unsound mind. The reason for this course being adopted was as follows:—During the night of Tuesday last, Myers succeeded in escaping from the hospital, and at an early hour next morning returned with his clothing saturated with water. He said he had felt very bad and had gone to Hume Bridge and jumped from off it into the river. He was put to bed. At a late hour of the morning a dinner knife was found under him in the bed, and as the wardsman got frightened that he would do himself some injury, the unfortunate man was given into the custody of the police, and, as stated above, was brought before the Court the same evening, and remanded to gaol for eight days for medical treatment.

YACHTING IN ENGLAND.—In the paragraph under this heading in Saturday's Herald, a typographical error occurred in reference to the Britannia; it should have read that she started seventeen times, won twelve races, the prizes being valued at £507.

THE COUNCIL OF EDUCATION'S REPORT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—By your leader in the Herald of 1st June you have conferred a very great benefit on the State teachers of New South Wales, and through them on the general public, who must be the ultimate gainers or losers by the acts of the Council of Education.

In the report the deterioration of the teaching staff is remarked, but in what way is not stated. Is it the individual teacher who is falling off, or is it the whole body of teachers, by the resignation of the better sort?

The latter is the reason, and is the natural reaction caused by the Council's treatment of the teachers. To prove this conclusion I give specimens of the Council's acts during the period of 1872-74.

1st. A teacher who was trained and appointed with his wife to a country school after a few months' residence had a rupture with one of the clergymen of the district, and in consequence about half of the pupils were withdrawn. The inspector was sent to inquire, who could not lay any great blame on the teacher; but as the small attendance continued the Council reduced the salary and left the teacher to starve for several months on £3 a month.

2nd. A teacher who had failed to meet the requirements of the Council's regulations, was informed by letter on the 20th of the month that his salary would be reduced £1 a month from the 1st instant, without any opportunity of saying whether he would agree to serve the Council at the reduced salary.

3rd. A teacher who had given ten years of the best portion of his life to public teaching, i.e., from 35 to 45, was informed by the Council that they were about to move him to another school to make room for a better teacher, as the circumstances of the locality required it. When he left, the Council filled the appointment with a younger teacher with a lower classification. The case was patent to the whole community, and unfair to either of those teachers.

4th. The Council's regulations allowed £12 a year more to a married man. For this £1 a month the teacher's wife was required to attend at the opening and closing of the school, besides several hours during the week. If the teacher declined to hire his wife to the Council for £1 a month he was soon sent off to some place where he could not live. So much for the present teachers.

Respecting the future supply of teachers through the manufacture from pupil teachers, the Council's treatment of teachers on the whole is too well known to induce any parent to indenture his children to the Council of Education as pupil teachers.

The matter requires as you justly remark, well and speedy weighing, or the quality of the Public school teachers will get worse every year.

Trusting you will continue your exposures for the good of the commonwealth,

I am, Sir, yours respectfully,
AN EX-TEACHER.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE SURPLUS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—In the Assembly, the other evening, the Colonial Treasurer stated that the cash surplus at the bank was "one million and a half sterling," derived from the sale of the land, which land formerly belonged to the aboriginals, and for which we pay those unfortunates as tribute a single blanket yearly.

Now that our finances are flourishing, what a noble deed it would be if, instead of a single, we gave them a double blanket yearly, and the future Macaulay of New South Wales could point with pride and pleasure to the Christian-like liberality of New South Welshmen in 1876.

Yours, &c.,
NEMO.

THE METROPOLITAN AND ILLAWARRA RAILWAY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—I have no doubt it must have been amusing to read my remarks on Dr. Lang's lecture. It always is amusing to see misstatements and fallacies shown up, and probably further amusement will have been created by Mr. Biggar's futile and evasive attempts to answer me.

Mr. Biggar says the Illawarra miners may be excused for considering me a silly fellow for doubting that 400,000 tons of coal would be sent to Sydney by the proposed railway. I might, in my turn, be excused for thinking Mr. Biggar a very silly fellow for using such an argument. What can miners, engaged all day at their work, know of the probable demand for their production, or of the quantity likely to be disposed of? That knowledge would be confined to those who are engaged in the trade, or who have studied the statistics relating to the question. Had Mr. Biggar, instead of saying these people could show that 40,000 tons "would," said that quantity "could" be sent annually, I should agree with him, because I am aware that far more than that can be supplied by the mines already open, but which do not supply it on account of the smallness of the demand.

The existing traffic by sea and land may possibly amount to £53,000; but then it appears that £20,000 of this is for coal, and Mr. Biggar has not shown how much of the remaining £33,000 is for the portion of Illawarra to be tapped by the railway, nor how much of it the steamers will still continue to absorb.

I am afraid Mr. Biggar and Dr. Lang must be the only two sane men in the colony, because all the rest of the community cannot think 4s. a ton for carriage of coals by rail from Illawarra a fair and equitable estimate, because the charge for haulage in the Commissioner's trucks on the Great Northern Railway is 1½d. a ton, or 5s. for 50 miles, and this on a cheaply constructed line, and the rate of course would be very considerably more on so very expensive a line as that to Illawarra.

Mr. Biggar proceeds to set me right on a number of points about which I am not aware I displayed any ignorance. I defy Mr. Biggar to point out any part of my letter which showed I was ignorant of the extent of the Illawarra coal-fields, or that several seams cropped out. I am quite familiar with the work of Mines and Minerals Statistics, having derived from it considerable information as to the inferiority of Illawarra coal, and I would in turn refer him to page 249, to which he has referred me, in which occurs the following passage, which has some bearing as to the necessity for the railway. "A private shipping place could be easily constructed about a mile south of Wollongong, at a moderate cost, which I believe would meet all the requirements of a very large output."

Mr. Biggar is equally unfortunate in his quotations as to the value of the coal. His quotation from the "cruise of the Galatea" is quite correct, but he omits to state that in the beginning of the same page the author speaks of Newcastle coal as only 5 per cent. inferior to the best Welsh coal, while he speaks of Illawarra coal as little inferior to ordinary Welsh coal, thus giving the preference considerably in favour of Newcastle.

I do not presume for a moment to set myself up as an authority against the gentleman alluded to by Mr. Biggar, but I still assert, the "proof of the pudding is in the eating." Coal is brought from Newcastle to Sydney, Victoria, Adelaide, and New Zealand by exactly the same means as it is now brought from Illawarra, namely, by steamer and sailing vessel, at the same cost for carriage to Sydney, and at a greater cost to the other places. Newcastle coal is also very much dearer than Illawarra, yet we find last year by statistics that 700,000 tons of Newcastle coal were sent to the places I have named, while a total of only 120,000 to all markets was sent from Illawarra. Now there must be some reason why the dear coal is purchased in large quantity while only a small supply of that which is so much cheaper can be got rid of. The fact is that Illawarra coal is not a good all-round coal, and is only useful for certain purposes, for which the demand is limited.

Mr. Biggar has been induced to let out a little more of the game of the promoters. It seems we are not only to have a railway from Wollongong to Balmain, but also a branch from it to the great Southern line. What other expenditure the construction of this railway is to lead to we have yet to learn. Mr. Biggar is judiciously silent as to my remarks on the misstatements concerning the cost and annual working expenses of the line.

I take the liberty of agreeing with the gentleman whom Mr. Biggar so justly esteems in thinking that 2,000,000 tons of coal per annum could not be sold and exported to foreign markets. Statistics show that only 1,300,000 from all the mines of the colony were raised for home consumption and export last year, and that the increase in the output of Newcastle coal is very small, while that from Illawarra is at a standstill—so much so indeed, that the companies cannot keep their steam-colliers going, but have to employ them in another kind of trade.

Yours obediently,
N. S. W.

RAILWAYS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—May I beg a small space to state that my petition was not against the Illawarra railroad, but that it was the duty of the State to complete the main trunk lines so as to connect the colonies now only accessible by sea (except the overland journey to Victoria), thus tending to federation; that in borrowing millions of money for branch lines we were depreciating our loans for the main trunk lines to the loss of the whole colony.

That as a large amount of wealth had been obtained from the coal of the public lands, the line should be made by private enterprise.

That the estimated profits of coal, timber, and land were illusionary, as the exports of coal must diminish instead of increase by the competition of new and foreign coal-fields.

I may add that a friend of mine recently went in search for land, but with the exception of Crown reserves and some small farms, he found nothing but rock, swamps, and scrub there, while he considered the line to Liverpool had few or no engineering difficulties, save at the mountains, and is some ten miles shorter.

RICHARD SADLEIR.

P.S.—Has there been any resolution or Act of Parliament passed restricting private enterprise as to railway lines?—R. S.

DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT BROWN COD LIVER OIL.—The easy digestibility of this oil is one of its peculiar characteristics. In his evidence before the Parliamentary Committee on the adulteration of drugs, Dr. Letheby, medical officer of health to the city of London, observed: "Dr. de Jongh's cod liver oil will stay for a longer time on the stomach than any other; it may be because of the care used in the preparation of it, he may get rid of certain acrid principles which we cannot recognise, but which are apt to disagree with the stomach." Sold only in capsuled imperial half-pints, pints, and quarts, by all chemists, druggists, and storekeepers. Sole consignees, Ansar, Harford, and Co., 77, Strand, London. Agents at Sydney—Elliott, Brothers.—ADV.

The Jason, from London, with a cargo of general merchandise, arrived this morning. The ship Kosciusko, from the same port, arrived yesterday with a general cargo, and the French barque Aline, from Bourbon, with 800 tons sugar.

The Wentworth (s.) brings Melbourne papers to the 1st instant. We take the following from the Argus of Thursday:—

In the import market business has been very much slower again, inquiries for the specialities which have of late risen into notice having greatly subsided; an exceedingly dull day has in consequence been passed. Flour is moving off very quietly indeed, and prices are to some extent irregular. At auction £12 was accepted this forenoon for one or two small parcels; sales privately are reported at £12 5s 6d., and best brands, by some, are not offered under £12 5s. Wheat is quoted at 5s 10d to 5s 11d. No business has been reported privately, and at the public sale in the forenoon only 5s 10d to 5s 10½d was realised; about 200 bags were disposed of. Oats, beyond the auction sale, do not attract the slightest attention. Under the hammer about 300 bags were cleared off at prices ranging from 2s 10d to 3s 3½d. Maize is going off steadily at 4s 3d. No large sales, however, are effected, as buyers at present content themselves with supplying ordinary routine wants. Sugars command a fair amount of notice; about 2000 mats of good to medium whites have changed hands at 31s 6d to 31s 6d. The damaged portion of one or two Mauritius cargoes was disposed of by auction, when 589 bags, more or less damaged by sea water, were cleared off at prices ranging from £21 10s to £26 10s. Rice is going off steadily for trade purposes, and sales up to 120 tons have been made during the last day or two, in parcels varying from 10 to 30 tons in a line, ex Cingalese and other shipments, at from £14 10s to £15 in bond. Portland cements meet with occasional notice, and we learn of the sale, to arrive, of 500 barrels for shipment to one of the other colonies, at a price withheld. Bulk brandy is still in very considerable request and though we have no further special sales to refer to, yet we learn that 7s 6d is offering very freely for Hennessy's 1875, to arrive. Hennessy's case is decidedly firmer, and large lines could readily be sold now, but holders refuse to quote under 30s 9d to 31s.

DISHONEST BOOTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—Will you allow me a few lines in your paper. I am one of those old-fashioned individuals who believe in being honest. How is it that, when you purchase a ready-made boot, you can in these days hardly do so without (as my experience goes) having a pair given you which sooner or later prove to have projecting wooden pegs or iron nails inside the sole? This gives no end of destruction to your socks and to your temper also. Is it tradesmanlike? Is it honest and just? My own experience tells me—and I dare say others can support it—that it is an evil of these so-called cheap and free-trade days. I am a free trader.

Yours truly,
Z.

THE CONGRESS OF ORIENTALISTS.—The third meeting of the International Congress of Orientalists will take place at St. Petersburg this year. The Congress, which will assemble on the 1st of September, intends to hold ten sittings, four of which will be taken up by a discussion on questions relating to Russia in Asia. Siberia will be the subject of the first; Central Asia, including the independent principalities, of the second; the Caucasus, together with the Crimea and the other European districts inhabited by Asiatic peoples, of the third; Transcaucasia (Georgia and Armenia), of the fourth. At the three following sittings the Congress will discuss matters referring to other parts of Asia, divided into three groups: First, Eastern Turkestan, Thibet, Mongolia, Corea, China, and Japan; second, India, Afghanistan, Persia, and the Indian Archipelago; third, Turkey, including Egypt and Arabia. The subjects treated of in these seven sittings will be confined to the geography, history, ethnography, and literature of the respective countries. The final sittings will be devoted to questions relating to the archæology and the coinage of Eastern peoples generally, and to their systems of religion and philosophy. The committee intend also to prepare an exhibition of articles illustrative of the ancient and modern customs of the Eastern races; and any person desirous of taking part in the congress will be admitted to the sittings on payment of a sum equivalent to 10s. The president of the committee, M. Grigorief, and the secretary for foreign correspondence, Baron Victor de Rosen, professor of Arabic at the University of St. Petersburg, have undertaken to supply foreigners with the information they require as to the details of the congress, and all questions regarding the exhibition will be answered by M. Pierre Lerch, secretary of the Imperial Archæological Committee of St. Petersburg (8, Grand Perspective), who has been entrusted with the arrangements for its preparation.

THE INDIAN FEUDATORIES OF ENGLAND.—A correspondent writes to the Pall Mall Gazette on March 30:—The interesting and highly suggestive article which you have translated in this evening's Pall Mall Gazette from the al-Jawâib of Constantinople is a warning to the press of this country to beware how it gives circulation to the ignorant statements made in Parliament about India, and of which the last few weeks have been unusually fruitful. No one cares to expose them, for the general belief is that no one in India will hear of them, and, so, happily, no mischief will be done. But it is a very different affair when these errors come to be repeated by the al-Jawâib, a journal which has obtained an extraordinary authority throughout Asia, and is remarkable as being at once the chief organ of the religious revival of Mohammedanism and strong supporter of British supremacy in the East. This most influential journal, which is widely read in India, repeats from a London journal that there are no fewer than 148 Indian provinces and principalities who do not recognise her Majesty as Queen or Empress "including Hyderabad, a State as large as Italy, with 11,000,000, Gwalior, Baroda, Jeypoor, &c., and Nepaul also." The fact is, that from the snows of the Himalayas to the snowy surf of Comorin, and from the Indus to the Delta of the Ganges, there is not an Indian prince of note who does not acknowledge the Queen of England as suzerain, not one who does not offer the usual "nuzzer" to our Government, as the paramount power, on succession. The only independent State in India is Nepaul, and Nepaul is not really independent. The feudatories of the English people in India, who reign by virtue of Lord Canning's sunnuds of 1862, number exactly 153, and include the Nizam of Hyderabad, the Maharajah Scinda of Gwalior (the greatest Mahommedan and the most powerful Hindoo State in India), the Gaikwar of Baroda, the Maharajahs of Jeypore, Travancore, Cashmere, Jodhpoor, the Maharajah Holkar of Indore, the Maharajahs of Puttiala, Oudipore, and Bhurtpore, and the Nawab Begum of Bhopal. These are our twelve greatest feudatories, in the order of their precedence. Not one of them questions our suzerainty; and the title by which they style the Queen among themselves is not Malika or Sultana or Padishah, or any such bare prose, but "Zilla-Subanahu," the "Shadow of God on Earth." The highest self-chosen title of one of the greatest of them is "Dowlat-i-Englassee," the "Elect Son of the English."

THE DUTY ON CUSTOMS.—Efforts have been made to induce the Government to repeal the ½ per cent. duty on customs, which, while only bringing in £40,000 to £50,000 yearly, is represented as a constant source of annoyance and vexation to those who have to pay it, viz., the retailers. A deputation from the National Chamber of Trade was prepared to wait upon the Chancellor of the Exchequer early in the month to urge on him the repeal of the impost, but Sir Stafford Northcote, unwilling probably to undergo the infliction, evaded it by pleading over-pressure of official duties. No doubt it is somewhat embarrassing to the Government to be constantly assailed by cries of "Give! give!" from different classes of taxpayers, and manifestly they could not, even if they would, accede to the numerous requests with which they are besieged. A too complaisant administration would soon find the revenue growing "small by degrees and beautifully less," and this would by no means suit the country in general. But this tax of ½ per cent on customs duties is after all but a small thing, and certainly if it causes that degree of annoyance which excited tradesmen aver, its retention is scarcely desirable or politic. However, the Government must be supposed to know its own business best, although it may be doubted whether it is exactly wise to foment disaffection among even a small coterie of tradesmen by a refusal to receive and listen to their representatives.

A NEW SOURCE OF GUANO.—Peru, it seems, can no longer lay claim to a monopoly of this unrivalled fertiliser. The Governor of the Bahamas has reported that "cave earth" or guano is found on the islands in large quantities, and he thinks there may perhaps be 400,000 tons of the material. Some cute Yankee firm, before the value of the "cave earth" was known, secured a seven years' monopoly on ridiculously easy terms. For some time, then, the Bahamas will be debarred from profiting to any material extent in their newly discovered wealth.

WELLINGTON DISTRICT.

First-class Fattening Saltbush Station, Wyabray or Gierah, better known as Gilgoin.

For Positive Sale (in consequence of the death of the late Mr. Yeomans) to close partnership accounts.

G. M. PITT and SON have received instructions from Messrs. Dight and Yeomans to sell by auction, at the exchange, Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, 30th August next,
WYABRAY or GEIRAH STATION, better known as Gilgoin, and comprising the blocks—Gingi, Back Gingi, Ulouri, Back Ulouri, Willoi, Back Willoi, and Wyabray, of an estimated area of about 130,000 acres. Together with the herd of cattle numbering about 5000 head, more or less.
These runs have a frontage of about 20 miles to one side of the Marra Creek, and 5 miles to the other, about 11 miles frontage to the Barwon River, the Wammerawa runs through one corner, about 3 miles, and Ginget Creek runs nearly through the centre of the run. Cuddy Spring, almost on the back boundary, has never been known to fail, and it has been utilised all through the past dry season. There are two splendid dams on the Marra Creek and one on Ginget Creek. In fact there is abundance of water all over the run, and stock have no distance to travel to it.
The improvements consist of a house, kitchen, and outoffices, good stockyard capable of working the herd, horse-paddock, &c.
About 25 miles of fencing will be completed by time of sale. The Barwon River forms a natural boundary for 11 miles; and, with the exception of 5 miles, contracts have been entered into to complete the unfinished portion—about 11 miles.
The herd is well bred, and it is estimated there are fully 2000 fattening bullocks on the run. The brandings for the past 2 years have not averaged 1000 calves.
The country is of the most fattening description, and abounds in all the different species of saltbush. It is admirably adapted for sheep, and well up to carrying from 60,000 to 70,000.
The run is distant only about 40 miles from Brewarrina, and has Dr. Mein's famous Booroома Station on the opposite side of the Barwon, its other neighbours being Messrs. Mackay and Cobb, C. B. Mackay, Dickson, Brothers, and F. rl.
Inspection is invited.
G. M. PITT and SON.

EUROKA STATIONS,
on the Barwon or Upper Darling River, together with about 5000 highly-bred cattle of excellent ages, to be mustered.
The country consists of open salt and cotton bush plains, thickly grassed, of heavy carrying capacity, highly fattening, and well shaded by drooping myalls.
It is watered by (10) ten miles frontage to the Barwon or Upper Darling River, by several creeks, (3) three lagoons or lakes, as well as a billibong ten (10) miles back, which fills from the Naomi River, and which, by damming, could be made almost as permanent as the Darling itself. There is a post-and-rail ring fence round the runs of most substantial description, also paddocks for the pure cattle and horses.
There is a good home station, with fresh water well. Drafting yards on frontage and out back.
The herd is one of the best in Australia, chiefly of the "Lee" blood, and of good ages for realisation. Euroka can carry and fatten at least 60,000 sheep. The wool can be either brought to Echuca or Adelaide by steamer, or by railway from Murrurundi to Newcastle when the Darling is too low to admit of navigation; thus this property has the advantage over others on Middle or Lower Darling of having the double route, and so ensure getting wool to market in all seasons. There have been three falls of rain (total over four inches) during the last two months, and a good fattening season is secure. The sale is a bona-fide and absolute one, and therefore a very rare opportunity for purchasers.
Terms:—One-third cash; balance 1, 2, and 3 years, bearing interest at the rate of 7 per cent.
For letters to inspect the property, maps, and Government description, or other information, apply to J. C. WALKER and CO., 102, Bourke-street West, Melbourne; or MAIDEN, HILL, and CLARK, 171, Pitt-street Sydney.

PICTON.

In the Intestate Estate of the late WILLIAM TYSON, deceased.

MR. JOHN SHEA has received instructions, by order of the Executor, to sell by public auction, at the George Inn, Picton, on MONDAY, June 12th,
Two Farms of Land—one fifty and the other sixty acres; both farms join each other, and are situated at East Bargo, in the county of Camden, and about three miles from the Douglas Park Station. The whole is securely fenced with a nearly new three-rail fence. On the smaller farm there is a nearly new, neat four-roomed cottage, weatherboarded and shingled, and lined throughout with pine, and verandah; there is also a good kitchen and other offices, with a splendid orchard of the choicest fruit-trees, and a never-failing supply of water on the land. The land is mostly cleared, and has not been cultivated for many years.
Terms—one-half cash, balance at 12 months, bearing interest at 8 per cent., secured on the property.
Title—Crown grant.

TO CAPITALISTS AND OTHERS.

F. M. OVERTON has received instructions from the Executors of the late Henry Harvey, Esq., to sell by auction, at Mr Payten's Woolpack Hotel, on WEDNESDAY, June 14, at 11 a.m.,
All that extensive block of land, situate at the corner of Harris and Macquarie streets, in the town of Parramatta, having a frontage to Harris-street of 225 feet 5 inches, and also to Macquarie-street of 213 feet 6 inches. Upon which is erected all that substantially brick-built 2-story premises, with slated roof known as comprising 5 comfortable residences, which are all occupied by respectable tenants, within a few minutes of the steamer's wharf and railway station.
There is a well of water at the rear of the buildings.
F. M. O. would wish to call the attention of capitalists to this sale as offering a chance of obtaining one of the best letting properties in this fast improving town.
The dwellings always command tenants. The present rental is £111 16s per year.
N.B.—Harris street will shortly be extended through Harris Fields direct to the railway station.
Title good Terms at sale.

BATHURST PLAINS and CITY.

To wealthy Squatters, Capitalists, Stud Stock Breeders, and Speculators.

JOHN F. CLEMENTS requests the attention of all parties who may be desirous of securing a really grand estate in the most salubrious and beautiful portion of inland Australia, as an opportunity of doing so will be offered on the 12th of JUNE proximo, when, from instructions he has received from J. B. Suttor, Esq. (sole trustee for Mrs. Edgar Cox), he will offer for sale by public auction, at the Royal Hotel, Bathurst, at 2.30 p.m.,
HEREFORD,
the cream of Bathurst freeholds.
This magnificent estate comprises two of the early grants (about 60 years old) as may be seen on the old charts, "William Cox, 2000 acres," "William Cox, 1160 acres," which may fairly be represented as unsurpassable in fertility, unrivalled in beauty, and incomparable in position, only separated from the CITY of BATHURST by the Macquarie River, to which it has a frontage of more than a mile, and within half a mile of the BATHURST RAILWAY STATION.
JOHN F. CLEMENTS has full confidence in recommending this magnificent estate to colonists desirous of securing a property of such extent and value—3160 ACRES OF LAND IN ONE BLOCK, with the advantages of extraordinary fertility, and within a few hours' reach of Sydney. Whilst to speculators a rare opportunity is offered of making a very large profit upon subdivision and resale to agriculturists, a large extent of the land being especially valuable for lucerne paddocks.
Terms at sale.
All particulars may be ascertained upon application at the office of Messrs. M'INTOSH, PINNOCK, and PRICE, George-street, Bathurst; or from J. F. CLEMENTS, Russell-street, Bathurst.
